The 2012 Phoenix Mercury Media Guide was written and edited by the Mercury Communications Department. The information contained in this publication was compiled by the Phoenix Mercury and is provided as a courtesy to our fans and the media and may be used only for personal or editorial purposes. Any commercial use of this information is prohibited without the prior written consent of the Phoenix Mercury. All WNBA and team insignias depicted in this publication are the property of the WNBA.

On behalf of the entire Phoenix Mercury organization, welcome to the 2012 Women's National Basketball Association season. There is sure to be many exciting moments at US Airways Center this summer as the Mercury uses its record-setting offense to seek a third championship in six years. The Mercury Basketball Communications Department is here to serve and will accommodate your needs as quickly and thoroughly as possible. In an effort to continue to provide a professional working environment, please note the following guidelines.

CREDENTIALS
All media working at USAC are required to be credentialed. Season credentials will be made available to writers and broadcasters regularly assigned to the club. All single-game credential requests must be made to the Mercury communications department before noon the day before a weeknight game and by 4:00 p.m. on Friday for a Saturday or Sunday game. All single-game passes are distributed the day of the game and available for pick up at media will call located at guest relations in the Casino Arizona Pavilion.

PRESS ENTRANCE
The designated press entrance at USAC is located at Guest Relations in the Casino Arizona Pavilion. All members of the media must use this entrance, accessible from the street level of the attached parking garage through the double doors on the south side of the building.

PRESS PARKING
The Mercury provides a limited number of press parking spaces in the USAC garage, located on the east side of the arena on 1st Street. Members of the media with season credentials will be allowed entrance to the garage by showing their passes. All single-game parkers must be on the parking list and receive approval from the Mercury communications department to park in the garage.

PRESS SEATING
Media seating on press row at USAC is restricted to accredited working media representatives. All seating requests, including photographers, are filled on a first come, first served basis and must be submitted to the Mercury communications department. Press seating is located courtside between the team benches and in sections 102 and 103 (approximately 20 rows off the floor). All live broadcasters will be seated courtside.

TELEVISION CAMERA LOCATIONS
Television camera locations are available in approximately 16 different areas in the building. For more information, contact Dan Siekmann at (602) 379-7673.

PRACTICES
All Mercury practices are open to the media for the final 30 minutes. It is advisable to check with the Mercury communications department for all practice times and locations. Please be aware that all times are approximate and practices do run long or end early on any given day.

Media are not allowed on the court during practice, nor are the media allowed to talk with players or coaches during practice.

GAMES
Mercury players and coaches are available for pregame interviews, per WNBA guidelines, from 4:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. for a 6:00 p.m. game and from 5:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. for 7:00 p.m. games.

The Mercury locker room will be closed for a maximum of 10 minutes following a game. Assistance will be provided in arranging interviews for visiting players and coaches.

WORKING AREAS
Phones and working space for the media will be provided in the Al McCoy Media Center prior to, during and following all Mercury games. Workspace is available during games on press row.

WIRELESS INTERNET
Wireless internet access is provided throughout USAC. For the wireless login information, please see a member of the Basketball Communications staff in the Al McCoy Media Center on game day.

Thank you for your continued coverage of the Phoenix Mercury. We look forward to an exciting 2012 season. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you need anything.

Robert G. Sarver

Managing Partner

Robert Sarver is not simply the managing partner of Arizona's original sports franchise. The Tucson native and Valley resident is a successful businessman and a committed philanthropist, husband and father with a lifelong passion for basketball, the Suns, the state of Arizona, and – above all – winning.

THE OWNER

As an 8-year-old boy, Robert Sarver attended his first Phoenix Suns basketball game after receiving tickets as a birthday gift from Donald Diamond, one of the franchise's original owners. Thirty-five years later in 2004, Sarver became the majority owner of one of the NBA's model franchises, assembling a group of investors that purchased the Suns, the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury, and the operating rights to US Airways Center.

In seven years under Sarver's leadership, the Suns have enjoyed virtually unparalleled success on the court. Phoenix owns the third-best record in the NBA since the start of the 2004-05 season (405-235, .633). His tenure includes three appearances in the Western Conference Finals and two of the three 60-win seasons in the franchise's 44-year history. With his goal to create sustained success, the Suns' payroll increased in each of Sarver's first five seasons as owner, and ranked in the top 10 in the league in three of those campaigns and three of the last four seasons.

Sarver's passion for winning extends beyond the men's game. His continued commitment to the WNBA in Phoenix has resulted in the Mercury winning two league championships in 2007 and 2009. The Mercury have made have four Western Conference Finals appearances in the last five seasons. In 2009, the Mercury partnered with Tempe-based LifeLock and became the first team in NBA or WNBA history to secure a corporate-branded jersey.

Guided by his stated mission, the Suns and Mercury organizations are industry leaders in business innovation and community outreach and involvement.

Sarver is a member of the NBA's Board of Governors, Labor Relations Committee, Advisory Finance Committee, and Audit and Compensation Committee.

THE BUSINESSMAN

Sarver is the Chairman and CEO of Western Alliance Bancorporation, which has $6.5 billion in assets and does business in Arizona, California, Nevada and Colorado. Western Alliance is the largest financial institution headquartered in Arizona. The company recently moved to the CityScape tower across the street from US Airways Center. More than 200 of the company's 1,000 employees are in Phoenix. Despite tough economic times, the bank has written more than $1 billion in local business and real estate loans in Arizona over the last three years, and has continued to be one of the most active small business lenders in Arizona. The bank also financed the retail component of CityScape, demonstrating his commitment to the continued renaissance of downtown Phoenix.

Sarver is the co-founder of Southwest Value Partners, a 25-year-old contrarian real estate fund. He has served as a director of SkyWest Airlines since 2000 and Phoenix-based Meritage Corporation since 1996.

After the passing of his father, Jack, and with very little start-up capital, Sarver founded National Bank of Tucson in 1984, becoming the youngest person ever to found a national bank. Robert served as the company's president until its sale in 1994.

THE PHILANTHROPIST

Sarver's ever-growing philanthropic efforts focus not simply on worthy causes but also giving back to Arizona and its local communities, both through Phoenix Suns Charities and his own personal contributions.

Under Sarver's leadership, Phoenix Suns Charities has made nearly $6 million in donations to local non-profits. Most recently, PSC handed out a record $1.36 million in grants and scholarships to a record 178 non-profit organizations in 2011.

Among his proudest accomplishments, Sarver helped to build the Sarver Heart Center at the University of Arizona in memory of his late father, who was among the first to undergo heart bypass surgery. The center is composed of more than 150 physicians and scientists and aims to prevent and cure cardiovascular diseases through the three pillars of research, education and patient care. Pioneering doctors at the center have spearheaded the development of the SynCardia temporary Total Artificial Heart, an award-winning project that became the world's first and only total artificial heart to win FDA approval as a bridge to human heart transplant in patients near death from heart failure. The innovation earned SynCardia recognition from the Arizona BioIndustry Association as "Arizona Bioscience Company of the Year" in 2011 for "doing to the most to transform the world during the last 12 months." Sarver personally funded the initial stages of the project and currently sits on the Board of Trustees for the center.

Doctors and researchers at the center developed a hands-only CPR method called Continuous Chest Compression CPR that doubles a person's chance of surviving cardiac arrest, and are continuing a program of outreach and education to make use of the method more widespread.

The center recently started a women's heart health program focused on expanding research and providing statewide awareness programs about women's heart issues.

The Sarvers were also instrumental in helping to build the Children's Museum of Phoenix, located in downtown Phoenix. A $1 million donation from the Penny and Robert Sarver Charitable Foundation aided in the completion of the 70,000-square-foot facility.

Sarver is on the board of directors for the Weil Foundation, established by Dr. Andrew Weil, an internationally recognized leader in integrative medicine.

THE PERSON

The 50-year-old Sarver is a 1979 graduate of Sabino High School in Tucson and a 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona. Sarver earned his bachelor's degree in business administration, and became a certified public accountant in 1983.

Sarver and wife Penny have three sons, Max, Jake and Zach. On their first date, Robert invited Penny to watch the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament at his house. Sarver is a "soccer dad," who can regularly be found at one of his three boys' soccer games or coaching

Brad Casper

President of Business Operations
Phoenix Suns

Brad Casper's career as an innovator in the arenas of branding and promotion has led him to do on-the-ground business in more than 35 countries with some of the world's largest companies and most-recognized products, and he now brings that marketing expertise to the Suns' front office as the club's president in charge of all business and non-basketball operations. Casper was named to the post, his first in professional sports, on Oct. 10, 2011, with the stated goal to engage, excite, educate and energize Suns fans.

A 25-year veteran of consumer businesses, Casper moved to the Valley in 2005 to serve as President and Chief Executive Officer of The Dial Corporation and lead its integration into German-based Henkel Group as Henkel Consumer Goods, Inc., a $1.7 billion North American business based in Scottsdale, Ariz. During his tenure, which lasted until fall 2010, Casper oversaw construction of the company's headquarters and research lab in Scottsdale, engineered the acquisition of Right Guard deodorants, and led the development and promotion of successful new products like Dial body washes, Renuzit air fresheners, and Purex Complete 3-in-1 Laundry Sheets.

It was in this position that Casper, a former high school football and basketball player, attended his first Suns game and was recruited to make Henkel a sponsor at a 2005 playoff game against the Mavericks. Struck by the style of play, fan loyalty, and the entertainment value both on and off the court, Henkel became a sponsor and Casper became a fan.

An Ohio native, Casper is a magna cum laude graduate of Virginia Tech University in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in finance whose entrance into the business world came as a financial analyst with General Electric. He left GE in 1985 to join Procter & Gamble in their famous brand management department. Then, in what he considers the big break of his career, Casper transferred internationally with P&G three years later at the age of 28. The position took him and his wife to Kobe, Japan, though the couple never had previously owned passports. As one of the youngest international expats in the firm's history, Casper's performance earned him mulitple promotions that took him to Hong Kong and then mainland China where he oversaw the launch of numerous products in the Asian market, including Pantene hair products. He spent 16 years with the company, including nine in Asia, and rose to the position of Vice President and General Manager of Procter & Gamble before being named the President of New Jersey-based Church & Dwight, the manufacturer of Arm & Hammer products. He subsequently joined Dial.

Named by the Phoenix Business Journal as one of the state's "Most Admired CEOs" in both 2008 and 2009, Casper's extensive involvement in civic and business organizations includes the Greater Phoenix Economic Council (GPEC), Greater Phoenix Leadership (GPL), the Global Institute of Sustainability (GIOS) at Arizona State University, and the Scottsdale Unified School District Foundation. He is also a Fellow at the Thunderbird Graduate School of Management and serves on the board of directors of Grand Canyon Education, Inc., which operates Grand Canyon University.

The 51-year-old Casper and wife Kay reside in Paradise Valley and have been married for 28 years. The couple began dating in high school but first met as 10-year-olds at a cotton candy stand. They have three children: 19-year-old Colton, a student at Arizona State, 15-year-old Carly and 14-yearold Brody, students at Chaparral High School.

Jason Rowley

Chief Operating Officer
Phoenix Suns

Jason Rowley begins his first season as the Suns' Chief Operating Officer and his fifth season overall with the organization. In his new role, Rowley oversees arena operations, ticket operations, television production, the team's broadcasters, and Information technology department. He will also oversee the club's interests in joint ventures including the Legends Entertainment District. Rowley, who joined the Suns organization originally as Senior Vice President and General Counsel in 2008, will continue to serve as the chief legal officer for the NBA club as well as the organization's other entities, the Phoenix Mercury and US Airways Center.

Rowley began his legal career in 2011 with the law firm of Snell & Wilmer in Phoenix, and while there he assisted the Suns' current ownership group in their acquisition of the club in 2004. At Snell, his practice included private and public mergers and acquisitions, complex real estate transactions, securities regulation, entity formation, commercial contracts and general business law.

After leaving Snell, Rowley served two years as corporate counsel for Van Tuyl, the nation's largest privately held automotive retailer. While at Van Tuyl, his practice focused on real estate and dealership acquisitions and development, as well as general corporate and contract law.

Rowley earned his bachelor's degree in 1994 from the University of Arizona, where he was president of Phi Gamma Delta (Fiji) fraternity and a member of the U of A Boxing Club. After graduation, Rowley joined the United States Navy, an experience he considers one of the proudest and most formative of his life. He worked as an intelligence analyst with the Commander 3rd Fleet Intelligence Division until his honorable discharge in 1998.

Rowley is involved in a number of civic organizations. He is a Thunderbird, the non-profit group that hosts the Waste Management Phoenix Open, serves on the Board of Directors for Special Olympics Arizona, and serves as General Counsel to Phoenix Suns Charities. He was named the 2011 Phoenix Father of the Year by the Phoenix Father's Day Council.

Rowley and wife Kristi met while working in the sales department for The Daily Wildcat, the University of Arizona's student newspaper. The couple has two daughters, Abigail (5) and Lucille (2), who are avid Suns and Mercury fans with a particular fondness for Steve Nash, Penny Taylor and The Gorilla.

Amber Cox

President and Chief Operating Officer
Phoenix Mercury

Amber Cox enters her eighth season overall with the Phoenix Mercury and first season with the joint title of President and Chief Operating Officer, putting her in charge of all business and basketball operations. Originally joining the franchise in 2005, a season before then-Head Coach Paul Westhead and assistant Corey Gaines introduced "The System" to Phoenix and revolutionized the WNBA with an up-tempo brand of basketball that is becoming a standard in the league, Cox has similarly revolutionized the branding of the Mercury product.

Beginning her stint with the franchise as Director of Marketing for five seasons, Cox aggressively expanded the fan base, reaching not just female fanatics but mainstream sports fans as well, most recently with the "Basketball is Basketball" campaign. Also in her marketing role, Cox was actively involved in the 2009 LifeLock partnership, which became the first marquee partner of any American professional sports franchise, a trend that was subsequently followed by four other WNBA teams and through a league-wide initiative in 2011.

Upon her arrival in Phoenix, Cox also contributed to the marketing efforts of the Phoenix Roadrunners, the Valley's former minor league hockey team, from 2006-09.

Recognizing her tremendous success and quick climb in the business industry the Phoenix Business Journal named Cox to its Forty-Under-40 Class of 2012.

Before joining the professional ranks, Cox served on the collegiate level as assistant director of athletics in charge of media relations and development at Columbia College in Columbia, Mo. She administered statewide marketing strategies to promote five sports and built internal promotion programs targeting students, faculty, and staff. Her duties also included managing the sports information office and game operations, as well as serving as coordinator of the athletic department's fundraising and community relations efforts.

While in Missouri, she also served as the Sports Information Director for the American Midwest Conference (AMC) and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Region V. She was responsible for the compilation and distribution of weekly statistical information to 18 member institutions and administered all-conference voting and player of the week selections for six sports.

Prior to that, Cox spent time as an account executive at Visionworks Marketing and Communications, supervising all phases of development plans for the firm's clients in addition to serving as the financial officer.

A Missouri native, Cox earned her bachelor's degree in communications/journalism and master's degree in business administration from William Woods University in Fulton, Mo

Ann Meyers Drysdale

Vice President, Phoenix Mercury
Vice President, Phoenix Suns

One of the true pioneers in women's basketball, Hall of Famer and award-winning broadcaster Ann Meyers Drysdale enters her first season as Vice President of both the Phoenix Mercury and the Phoenix Suns. The role follows five successful seasons as General Manager for the Mercury where she constructed the franchise's two WNBA championship teams in 2007 and 2009.

Enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. as a player in 1993, Meyers Drysdale's basketball resume enters its fifth decade, which she most recently documented in her autobiography "You Let Some Girl Beat You?" released in conjunction with the 40th anniversary of Title IX.

Meyers Drysdale's storied basketball life began when she became the first-ever high school player to make a United States National Team in 1974 and later was the first woman to receive a full athletic scholarship from UCLA. The UCLA basketball legend was a four-time Kodak All-American, the first male or female to achieve that honor. Upon graduation, she held 12 of 13 school records and led the Bruins to a national championship in 1978. Meyers Drysdale became the first female to be named in the school's athletics Hall of Fame and had her jersey No. 15 retired. In addition to her basketball accomplishments, Meyers Drysdale competed in volleyball and won a national championship title in track in 1975.

As a standout player, the 5-9, 140-pound guard represented the United States in the 1976 Olympics, 1975 and '79 Pan American Games, and the 1975 and '79 World Championships. As part of the first women's US Olympic Basketball team, Meyers Drysdale earned a silver medal at the Montreal Games in 1976.

Meyers Drysdale remains the only female to sign a free-agent contract with an NBA team when she signed with the Indiana Pacers in 1979. After being released by the Pacers, she served as a color commentator for the Pacers broadcasts and was the first woman to broadcast an NBA game.

In 1978 she became the first player drafted in the Women's Professional Basketball League (WBL) and resumed her playing career with the New Jersey Gems, where she was named MVP after leading the league in steals and averaging 22.2 points. She also took home the title as one of only two women to win the ABC Sports Superstars competition three years in a row from 1981-1983 and was the only woman to participate in the men's competition.

Meyers Drysdale has established herself as an expert analyst on ESPN, NBC, ABC, FOX Sports, and CBS and has done commentary for men's and women's basketball, softball, tennis, volleyball, and baseball since 1979. Her illustrious broadcasting resume includes the 1984, 2000, 2004, 2008 and 2012 Summer Olympics as well as a stint as a broadcaster for the 1988-89 Loyola Marymount men's basketball team, coached by former Mercury Head Coach Paul Westhead and featuring current Mercury General Manager and Head Coach Corey Gaines, a guard on the team. In 2006, her incredible sports journalism contributions were honored as the winner of the United States Sports Academy's (USSA) Ronald Reagan Media Award, joining an elite group of winners that includes Howard Cosell, Bob Costas, Keith Jackson, Frank Deford and Rupert Murdoch.

In 2012, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association renamed its Women's National Player of the Year Award, the Ann Meyers Drysdale National Player of the Year Award, in honor of her impact in the sport.

Meyers Drysdale has five sisters and five brothers, including brother Dave Meyers, who played college basketball at UCLA under legendary coach John Wooden and won two NCAA Championships with teammate Bill Walton. He played five seasons (1975-80) for the Milwaukee Bucks after being one of four players traded from the Los Angeles Lakers for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in 1975.

In 1986, Annie married former Los Angeles Dodgers Hall of Famer pitcher Don Drysdale and took the name Ann Meyers Drysdale. It was the first time that a married couple was members of their respective sports' Hall of Fame. The Southern California native and Drysdale, who passed away in 1993, have three children together: sons Don Jr. (D.J.) and Darren, and daughter Drew.

Corey Gaines

General Manager and Head Coach

Entering his fifth season as Head Coach of the Phoenix Mercury, Corey Gaines will become the longest-tenured coach in franchise history and last year became the all-time winningest coach in franchise history surpassing the legendary Cheryl Miller. Following the 2011 season, Gaines was given authority over player personnel when he was named General Manager in addition to his coaching responsibilities.

Gaines also serves as an assistant coach for the NBA's Phoenix Suns.

A 22-year veteran of the up-tempo, fastbreak style of play which has become a Phoenix staple, Gaines learned the system at Loyola Marymount as the point guard for Paul Westhead, the "Guru of Go". Westhead took over as head coach of the Mercury in 2006 and Gaines followed his mentor as the club's top assistant in charge of an offense that set WNBA records for scoring average in both 2006 (87.1) and 2007 (89.0).

After winning the first WNBA championship in franchise history in 2007, Gaines was named the seventh head coach in team history and in 2009 led the Mercury to its second title. The Mercury was the first team to secure a spot in postseason play that season and entered the playoffs as the WNBA's top seed, eventually defeating the Indiana Fever in five games in the WNBA Finals to hoist the 2009 championship trophy at US Airways Center on Oct. 9, 2009.

With Gaines on the sideline, the Mercury has led the league in scoring in six consecutive seasons, setting league records four times, and has established a style of play that is being replicated throughout the league.

As a collegiate athlete, the Los Angeles native spent his first three seasons at UCLA alongside Reggie Miller before transferring to LMU in 1986, redshirting during the 1986-87 campaign and starting at point guard the following season when he engineered a 26-game win streak as a teammate of Bo Kimble and Hank Gathers.

Gaines was originally selected by the Seattle Supersonics in the third round (65th overall) of the 1988 NBA Draft and spent five seasons with five different NBA teams, earning him a trip to the 1994 NBA Finals with the New York Knicks. Gaines competed 12 years internationally, including a stint as the starting point guard with Scavalini in Italy, playing against a Benetton team, which was coached at the time by former Phoenix Suns Head Coach Mike D'Antoni.

The 45-year-old re-joined Westhead in the ABA with the Long Beach Jam in 2003, serving as a player and an assistant helping the team to a championship. Gaines coached a squad with six current and former NBA players including Matt Barnes (Orlando Magic), Matt Carroll (Dallas Mavericks), Yuta Tabuse and Dennis Rodman.

Julie Hairgrove Assistant Coach

Top assistant Julie Hairgrove enters her eighth season with the Phoenix Mercury. Prior to joining the WNBA, she spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Loyola Marymount University.

As a college athlete, Hairgrove was a key contributor as a four-year starter at the University of Arizona, helping lead the Wildcats to the NCAA tournament in each of her four seasons. Hairgrove also served as team captain for three seasons.

In addition to playing basketball, Hairgrove worked as an assistant coach at Lute Olson's basketball camps and served on the Student-Athlete Advisory Board. She completed her bachelor's degree in social and behavioral sciences in communication and minored in business.

Hairgrove is the granddaughter of NCAA Hall of Famer and former University of Arizona coach Lute Olson. She and her husband Mike are the proud parents of three daughters, Madison (6), Hailey (4) and Grace (2).

Earl Cureton Assistant Coach

Earl Cureton enters his fourth season as a WNBA assistant coach and first on the Mercury sideline. Cureton previously worked for the Charlotte Sting from 2005-06 and for the Detroit Shock in 2009 where he worked under Rick Mahorn and coached current Mercury guard Alexis Hornbuckle.

A 12-year NBA veteran, Cureton was originally drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers with the 58th overall pick in the 1979 NBA Draft. Known as "The Twirl", the 6-9 forward was a part of two NBA championships teams, the 76ers in 1982-83 and the Houston Rockets in 1993-94. Cureton also played for the Pistons, Bulls, Clippers, Hornets and Raptors during his career.

A basketball journeyman, Cureton has made coaching stops in the NBA, United States Basketball League, Continental Basketball Association following his retirement from the NBA in 1997, and was an assistant coach with the ABA's Long Beach Jam, alongside current Mercury Head Coach Corey Gaines and under former Mercury Head Coach Paul Westhead. When Westhead left to become an assistant for the Orlando Magic, Cureton took over as head coach and led the Jam to an ABA Championship along with Gaines.

Most recently, Cureton served as an analyst for FOX Sports Detroit.

Cureton played collegiately at Division I Robert Morris University before transferring to University of Detroit Mercy for his final two seasons under head coach Dick Vitale.

Tamara Poole Head Athletic Trainer

A veteran of athletic training and sports medicine in women's professional sports, Tamara Poole enters her seventh season with the Mercury as Head Athletic Trainer. Just the second head trainer in Mercury history, Poole serves as a medical liaison with the team's medical and organizational staff and focuses her daily on injury prevention and management.

Prior to joining the Mercury staff, Poole served as Head Athletic Trainer of the WNBA's Connecticut Sun, Seattle Storm and served two seasons with the Charlotte Sting. Poole's experience also includes stints in the CBA, ABL and Italian Women's Professional League.

Poole graduated from California State Dominguez Hills in 1995 with a degree in physical education with an emphasis in athletic training and a minor in biology.

Pro Advantage Training

Pro Advantage Training, a leader in sports-performance training, has come on board as the new Strength and Conditioning Coaches for the Mercury.

Pro Advantage was founded in 2000 by Keith Wilson, former Strength and Conditioning Coordinator for the Arizona Diamondbacks and Milwaukee Brewers. Pro Advantage has training facilities in Tempe and Gilbert and has grown to the level of working with international and domestic athletes from the NBA, WNBA, MLB, NFL, AFL, and PGA.

In addition to working with professional athletes, Pro Advantage Training has very successful college, high school, youth, and post-rehab training programs.

Phoenix Mercury

2011 SEASON IN REVIEW

OUR HOUSE RULES
#11

LEARN FROM THE PAST, BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

After winning championships in 2007 and 2009, optimism was high for 2011 based on the Phoenix Mercury's recent success in odd years. Adding to the apparent luck of the calendar, the team returned its core group from the 2010 squad that advanced to the Western Conference Finals and held a full training camp with its full complement of players, a rarity in the WNBA. Diana Taurasi and Penny Taylor received an unexpected, and much-needed, extended rest prior to the start of the season, Candice Dupree was entering her second full season in "The System" and Kara Braxton had a full training camp to condition for the up-tempo style.

All of the pieces seemed to be in place but the season got off to a slow start, both in schedule – the Mercury played just three games in the first three weeks of the WNBA season, and in success – Phoenix started 0-3. But then things began to click as the club won 10 of its next 11 games including a season-high six-game winning streak. The 11-game stretch started with an overtime win at home against perennial Eastern Conference power Indiana followed by a road win over San Antonio, handing the then-undefeated Silver Stars their first loss of the season. Highlighting the back end of the six-game win streak was a 39-point home win over the Tulsa Shock, the largest margin of victory in franchise history, and a 112-105 win at Minnesota, the highest scoring regulation game in WNBA history, that left the Mercury with the best record in the WNBA (10-4).

A week later, however, the Lynx entered the US Airways Center and snapped the Mercury's six-game winning streak in the final game before the All-Star Break, a game that featured six of the 12 West All-Stars. The Mercury lost four of its next five games after the break, but endured a more crucial loss on Aug. 4 when it traded starting center Braxton to the New York Liberty, two days after she was suspended for conduct detrimental to the team. In return Phoenix received reserve guard/forward Sidney Spencer but ultimately lost the interior presence acquired in 2010 that was expected to deliver the club's third championship.

So, Head Coach Corey Gaines adjusted and reserve players filled holes. The always high-octane Mercury played even faster, increasing the number of possessions and shots attempted and decreasing its number of turnovers; veteran center Nakia Sanford entered the starting lineup and served the role of the hard-working post player; and DeWanna Bonner emerged to win her third consecutive WNBA Sixth Woman of the Year award, becoming the only player in league history to win a voted-on postseason award three straight years. A sleeper in the first half of the season (9.5 points and 6.1 rebounds per game), Bonner increased her averages to 12.3 points and 8.2 rebounds per game in the 15 games following the trade.

The highlight win of the second half of the season came Aug. 16 when the Mercury defeated the Seattle Storm 81-79 at US Airways Center, snapping a nine-game series losing streak in the regular season and playoffs. Phoenix trailed by as many as 18 points in the game, tying it for the second-largest comeback in franchise history. Breaking the streak proved to be even more valuable come the postseason when the third-seeded Mercury drew the second-seeded Storm in a best-of-three first-round series.

Seattle routed the Mercury 80-61 at Key Arena in Game 1 holding the league's best shooting team to just 29.7 percent shooting from the field. Penny Taylor, who missed five of the last six regular season games with back spasms, led the Mercury with 13 points. With its back against the wall, the Mercury found renewed life in Phoenix, leading Game 2 from start to finish evening the series at 1-1. Candice Dupree, who was held to just eight points in Game 1, erupted for 29 points and seven rebounds, and DeWanna Bonner, who started every game in the 2011 postseason, added a double-double with 13 points and 13 rebounds. The win forced a decisive Game 3 at Key Arena where the Mercury had not won since 2009.

Phoenix trailed 20-9 after the first quarter and fell behind by as many as 18 points midway through the second quarter, but crawled back to within nine, 39-30, at the half. The Mercury eventually took its first lead 60-59 with 6:56 remaining in the game, but one possession later Taurasi fouled out of the game. With the league's leading scorer out, Taylor filled the vacancy scoring 11 of her 19 points in the final 6:00 and grabbing a franchise postseason record 17 rebounds in the game. Tied at 75 with 10.5 seconds remaining, Taylor drove baseline and missed the potential game winner, but the rebound bounced into Dupree's hands who hit a six-foot jumper with 1.9 seconds on the clock to seal the win and the series for Phoenix.

The Mercury advanced to the Western Conference Finals for the third straight year and ran into league-leading Minnesota who ended the best-of-three series convincingly in two games. The Lynx won Game 1 in Minnesota 95-67 and Game 2 in Phoenix 103-86.

Phoenix Mercury

HISTORY

OUR HOUSE RULES
#97

HONOR YOUR ANCESTORS

MERCURY IN THE RAFTERS

In a unique ceremony at halftime of the club's nationally televised matchup with the Sacramento Monarchs on June 6, 2006, the Phoenix Mercury unveiled a tribute to four of the organization's pillars since its inception in 1997. The banner features photographs of the first three players ever to join the organization–forward Jennifer Gillom and guards Michele Timms and Bridget Pettis–and the original coach and general manager, Cheryl Miller. It hangs permanently in the northeast corner of the US Airways Center rafters.

"To celebrate the tenth anniversary of our league and our franchise without creating a lasting tribute to the four most important individuals in our team's history would have been a mistake. In honoring our past, we use these individuals as an example to our current and future players because they exemplify the will and spirit of Mercury basketball on the court and in our community. We look forward to the day when we will raise a championship banner alongside this tribute to Bridget Pettis, Jennifer Gillom, Michele Timms and Cheryl Miller."
– Jay Parry
President and Chief Operating Officer, Phoenix Mercury

MERCURY IN THE RAFTERS

MICHELE TIMMS – 7
Second player allocated to the Mercury in team history… played five seasons in Phoenix from 1997-2001… 1999 WNBA All-Star…Owns career averages of 7.5 points and a franchise-record 4.8 assists per game… Owns Mercury records for assists in a season (158), assists per game in a single season (5.3), steals in a season (71) and steals per game in a single season (2.6).

BRIDGET PETTIS – 32
Selected by the Mercury in the 1997 Elite Draft (seventh overall), becoming the third player in franchise history… played in Phoenix from 1997-2001 and in 2006… made the first basket in franchise history, a three-pointer against Charlotte on June 22, 1997… played in 154 consecutive games, still a franchise record… owns career averages of 6.2 points, 2.0 rebounds and 1.4 assists… named a Mercury assistant coach on June 29, 2006.

CHERYL MILLER
First coach and general manager in team history… served in that position from 1997-2000… led the Mercury to three postseason appearances (1997, 1998, 2000), including a berth in the 1998 WNBA Finals… owns a 70-52 (.574) record as Mercury head coach, the most wins and second-highest winning percentage in team history.

1997 SEASON

When Phoenix became one of eight cities (Charlotte, Cleveland, Houston, Los Angeles, New York, Sacramento and Utah) awarded a women's professional basketball team, the organization was not aware of the overwhelming amount of support the team would receive. The city of Phoenix welcomed the women's team with open arms and showed their support by making Phoenix one of the top cities in attendance averaging 13,000 plus fans the first season. The spark was lit when one of the greatest pioneers of women's basketball, Cheryl Miller, was named Head Coach/General Manager of the Phoenix Mercury. With the allocation of Jennifer Gillom and Michele Timms, Miller led the Mercury to a winning record of 16-12, the Western Conference title and a playoff birth.

In the elite draft, two more key players were drafted by the Mercury, Bridget Pettis and Nancy Lieberman-Cline who added depth to the Mercury roster. The final roster included 10 active players and two developmental players. The Phoenix Mercury played their inaugural game on June 22, 1997 and defeated the Charlotte Sting 79-59 at America West Arena in front of a crowd of 16,102 fans. Gillom stepped it up and took control of the Mercury leading the team in scoring averaging 15.7 ppg for the season and ended the season being tied for fifth in the league in scoring and being named to the All-WNBA second team. Timms led the team in assists (5.1 apg); while, Foster led the team in rebounding (6.1 rpg). Pettis was second on the team in scoring (12.6 ppg) and ranked 12th in the league.

It didn't take long for Phoenix to make their mark in the WNBA. The first ever WNBA player trade was made on July 31, with the Mercury obtaining Mikiko Hagiwara from Sacramento for future considerations. Phoenix led the league in forcing their opponents to turn the ball over, with opponents averaging 21.4 turnovers per game. At the same time, the Mercury had the fewest turnovers in the league, averaging 17.0 turnovers per game. The Mercury also led the league in rebounding percentage with .508, as well as holding their opponents to a scoring low, an average of 65.2 points per game. Phoenix was tied with Los Angeles for the most steals in a single game (20) and was second behind Cleveland, for the most offensive rebounds in a single game (22).

There was one team that the Mercury fought against all season, the Los Angeles Sparks. In three meetings, the Mercury went into overtime twice and had a buzzer beater victory once. Toni Foster hit the only buzzer beater shot of the season on July 13 at Los Angeles in a 57-56 victory. In the final game of the season on August 24, the Mercury had a sellout crowd for an overtime victory of 73-68 against Los Angeles, which advanced Phoenix into the playoffs.

Phoenix made the playoffs and faced the New York Liberty in the semi-final game (single elimination game). Phoenix fell to New York, 59-41, in front of their home crowd of 16,751 at America West Arena. Gillom and reserve Marlies Askamp each posted 9 points and Gillom grabbed 7 rebounds.

The second WNBA season got even hotter for the Phoenix Mercury. With the expansion of the league from 8 to 10 teams (Washington and Detroit) and a longer playoff series, Phoenix took their game all the way to the WNBA finals. Under the guidance of head coach Cheryl Miller, the team posted a 19-11 record and a second trip to the playoffs. The Mercury ended the regular season on a positive note posting a 7-2 record for the month of August, with a 4-0 record at home. Jennifer Gillom made two buzzer beater shots that not only led Phoenix into overtime victories, but also helped the Mercury advance to the playoffs. In June and July the Mercury posted a winning record of 12-9 with Gillom leading the way in scoring and rebounding. She was also named Player of the Week for the week of July 12th.

The 1998 Phoenix squad featured seven international players. The Mercury drafted the talented 6'8", 19 year old Russian, Maria Stepanova, in the first round (8th pick) of the 1998 draft. Three players were from Australia (Michelle Griffiths, Kristi Harrower, Michele Timms), one from Slovakia (Andrea Kuklova), Germany (Marlies Askamp) and Japan (Mikiko Hagiwara). Hagiwara, Kuklova and Stepanova all had traveling interpreters during the season.

Gillom became the second player in WNBA history (behind Cynthia Cooper) to surpass the 1,000 point mark in her career and ended the season with 1,064 points. She finished the season ranked second in the league in scoring, fifth in rebounding, sixth in three-point field goal percentage and tenth in steals. Gillom was named to the All-WNBA first team and led the team in scoring for the second straight season, averaging 20.8 ppg.

Phoenix faced the Cleveland Rockers in the first round of the WNBA playoffs. The Mercury finished the semi-final series with a 2-1 record. The Mercury defeated the Rockers in game one of the semi-finals in front of their home crowd (78-68). Phoenix had a heart breaking loss in game two in Cleveland by one point (67-66). In game three, Bridget Pettis led all scorers recording 27 points and 11 rebounds and helped secure the Mercury win (71-60). Gillom led the series against Cleveland averaging 19.7 ppg and 7.3 rpg. The Mercury advanced to the WNBA Finals where they faced the defending World Champion Houston Comets. The Mercury were victorious in game one at America West Arena (54-51). Michele Timms turned up the heat in game two of the Finals at Houston and led the team with 21 points (7-18 FG, 2-8 3-pt FG, 5-5 FT). The two teams went into overtime but the Comets came away with the win (74-69). The Comets won game three (80-71) and walked away with the WNBA Championship title. Gillom led the team in scoring and rebounding in the playoffs, posting an average of 17.0 ppg and 7.8 rpg.

The Mercury had arguably the best bench around the league. Phoenix was 11-2 when their bench scored 20+ points in a game. The bench posted an all-time high 47 points in an 88-59 victory vs. Washington on 8/4. Marlies Askamp led the bench during the season in scoring and rebounding, averaging 5.3 ppg and 3.3 rpg.

The Mercury fans filled the stands and kept Phoenix ranked in the top three in the league for attendance, averaging 13,765.

1999 SEASON

Whitney Houston sang the national anthem as all the stars came out in New York for the Inaugural WNBA All-Star game at Madison Square Garden. Jennifer Gillom and Michele Timms were selected to play in the inaugural WNBA All-Star game on the Western Conference team on July 14 in New York. With Van Chancellor coaching the Western Conference team, the West defeated the Eastern Conference team, which was coached by Linda Hill-MacDonald, 79-61.

With an overall record of 15-17 and Cheryl Miller re-signing a multi-year contract, the Mercury heated things up in the second half of the season. If the season had been decided on second half performance alone, Phoenix would have fared much better than their fourth place Western Conference finish. Based on the last 18 games of the season, the Mercury would have ended the season with an 11-7 record placing themselves in second place in the Western Conference. In the last 18 games the Mercury averaged 68.1 ppg, 39.6 rpg, 16.4 apg and 7.7 spg while in the first half of the season they averaged 67.6 ppg, 32.2 rpg, 15.3 apg and 6.5 spg and a record of 4-10. Phoenix also ended the season holding three WNBA single game records. They had the most field goal attempts (79), the most three-point field goal attempts (29) and the fewest free throw attempts (4). The Mercury won 11 consecutive home games, from 7/17 through 8/17, which set a new franchise record and ranked Phoenix second in the WNBA record books (behind the Houston Comets) for the most consecutive home games won.

Gillom became one of two players in the league to record 1,500 career points (behind Cynthia Cooper) and led the team in scoring for the third straight season (15.2 ppg). Gillom also scored in double figures 82 out of 90 regular season games in the last three seasons. She also recorded her 550th career rebound vs. Utah on 8/20. Gillom became the only Mercury player to have started and played in every game (90 games) in the last three years. Timms was a close second, having not played in three games and not starting in one game.

Maria Stepanova stepped it up off the bench and recorded career-high numbers. Her 62 total blocks landed her ranked second in league for blocks per game (1.94 bpg). She had a streak of at least one blocked shot (41 total blocks) in 18 straight games from 7/17 through 8/20. Her career-high six blocks on 6/26 at Detroit was a Mercury franchise record for the most blocks in a single game. Stepanova recorded four consecutive double-doubles and ended the season with six double-doubles.

With the Mercury bench having so much depth, they outscored their opponents bench 19 out of 32 times and 12 out of 16 times at home. Maria Stepanova led the bench in scoring (7.8 ppg) and rebounding (5.1 rpg).

Once the American Basketball League (ABL) closed its doors, many of those talented players joined the WNBA and heated up the competition. With the competition fierce, America West Arena had no problem packing the house and maintaining Phoenix's top three ranking in the league for attendance.

2000 SEASON

Phoenix hosted the second annual WNBA All-Star Game on July 17, and Brandy Reed represented the Mercury on the Western Conference team that bested the East, 73-61.

The Mercury finished the season with a franchise-best 20-12 record and their third playoff berth in four seasons.

At the start of the season, the Mercury put together a franchise-record four-game road winning streak (6/13-6/24), and the team continued its winning ways by tying a franchise record with four consecutive overall wins from July 7-13. In August, the Mercury shot a scorching WNBA-record 63.6 percent from the field vs. the Seattle Storm.

Phoenix also secured a mention in the record books by holding the Miami Sol to a 2000 WNBA season-low and Mercury franchise-low 44 points, while limiting the Sol to a franchise-low 22.6 percent from the field.

Despite the injuries the team faced, many Mercury players excelled individually as well. Reed finished the season ranked third in the league and first on the team in scoring (19.0 ppg), while Jennifer Gillom (12.5 ppg) had the second-best scoring average for Phoenix. Reed (5.8 rpg) and Michelle Griffiths (4.0 rpg) were the top Mercury rebounders. The Mercury accomplished these milestones in spite of the numerous injuries to key players. Michelle Cleary, Maria Stepanova and Michele Timms all suffered season-ending knee injuries, while Gillom and Griffiths each missed time due to sprained ankles. To compensate for these injuries, Phoenix signed guards Dena Head and Nicole Kubik mid-season.

The 2000 season was one which saw Reed return to Phoenix through a trade after spending one season in Minnesota, and finish the year ranked third in the WNBA in free throw percentage, third in scoring, fifth in steals and tied for 15th in rebounding. Also, Michelle Cleary set a new franchise record for individual assists in a game with 12 assists on 7/19 vs. Utah, and Tonya Edwards was nominated for the second annual American Express Small Business Services WNBA Entrepreneurial Award. Edwards has a snack vending business out of Columbus, Ohio. In addition, Gillom set a new career high and also tied the Mercury's all-time record for most free throws in a game by shooting 12-12 from the line on 6/14 vs. Portland, and Lisa Harrison finished second in the league with a 1.36 steals-to-turnovers ratio. "The Sparkplug" Bridget Pettis kept her streak alive of consecutive games played with 122. Finally, rookie Adrain Williams was one of only two Mercury players (Reed is the other) to record a double-double this season.

Phoenix's impressive finish led the team to the playoffs for the third time in its four-year existence. In the First Round of the 2000 Playoffs, the Mercury faced the league's top team, the Los Angeles Sparks, and fought hard, but lost both games to their Western Conference foe.

The WNBA welcomed four new teams (Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm) to the league and the Mercury won all nine games against the 2000 expansion teams.

The 2000 season also featured the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia. Four Mercury players joined their national teams in Sydney for the Games. Trisha Fallon, Michelle Griffiths and Michele Timms suited up for the host Australian National Team, and won a silver medal, and Maria Stepanova played for the Russian National Team.

2001 SEASON

The 2001 season marked the fifth anniversary of the Phoenix Mercury and the WNBA. One of eight inaugural members of the league, the Mercury has seen the league raise the level of competition and expand to 16 teams over the years. Phoenix boasts and 83-71 overall record and captured a Western Conference title in 1997 and a trip to the WNBA finals in 1998.

On January 8, 2001, the Phoenix Mercury named Cynthia Cooper the second head coach in franchise history. Cooper, winner of four straight WNBA titles with the Houston Comets and two-time league MVP, took over for Cheryl Miller, who resigned following the 2000 season. Cooper guided the Mercury to a 13-19 record and a fifth-place finish in the Western Conference.

As a team, the Mercury enjoyed the longest winning streak in franchise history from July 14-27, where they won five games in a row This included two game-winning shots by fifth-year veteran Jennifer Gillom, who hit buzzer-beaters to defeat Detroit and Seattle during that streak. Another highlight saw all five starters score in double figures for the first time in Mercury history as Phoenix downed Minnesota on 7/14/01. Eight different players led the team in scoring throughout the year while ten different players led in rebounds.

Individually, Maria Stepanova (.507) and Trisha Fallon (.490) ranked among league leaders in field goal percentage while point guards Kristen Veal (4.3) and Michele Timms (4.1) finished fifth and sixth, respectively, among assist leaders. Veal also ranked first among WNBA rookies in the assist category. Lisa Harrison ranked eighth among WNBA free throw shooters with a .864 percentage.

Three of the original Mercury members, continued to make headlines in 2001. Bridget Pettis saw action in all 32 games in 2001, extending her streak to 154 games played over five seasons in the WNBA. She joins a select group of just six players who have appeared in every game in WNBA history. Jennifer Gillom notched her 2,000th career point on 6/10/01, becoming only the third player in WNBA history to reach this milestone. Michele Timms capped off her professional career and the 2001 season on 'Michele Timms Night' by hitting a three pointer with 7.5 seconds left in the 56-38 victory over Houston on 8/14/01.

Off the court, the Mercury continued their strong showing in the community with various appearances and programs. Mercury players volunteered their time at events such as spaghetti dinners, hospital visits, book drives, kid's clinics and Boys and Girls Club visits. For the month of July, Michele Timms was named the WNBA's Hometown Hero, honoring a player who donates time and energy to their local community. A $5,000 check was presented in her name to the Mary Cobb 'Building Dream' Foundation, a program created by Cynthia Cooper that raises funds for breast cancer patients.

The 2002 season marked the sixth year for both the WNBA and one of its original eight teams, the Phoenix Mercury. In six seasons, Phoenix owns an overall record of 94-92. The "Mighty Mercury" won the Western Conference Title in 1997 and earned a trip to the WNBA Finals in 1998.

2002 could only be described as a frustrating year for the Mercury. In the first few days of training camp, the club learned that 6'8" Russian center Maria Stepanova would miss the season due to pregnancy. Rebounding from the loss of Stepanova, the team came out of the gate quickly, winning four out of the first five games. Soon after the hot start, things began to change. On June 26, Head Coach Cynthia Cooper resigned from her position to spend more time with her family and Assistant Coach Linda Sharp was named Interim Coach for the remainder of the season. When Cooper left, the team held a 6-4 record. The Mercury responded by winning their first game under Sharp, knocking off the Seattle Storm 62-53. After a home loss to the defending champion LA Sparks, the team embarked on a five-game road swing.

The road would prove to be a thorn in the Mercury's side all season, as they endured a 15-game losing streak on the road. The team finally earned a win in Portland on August 11, the last road game of the year, beating the Fire 73-70 to finish the season 1-15 away from America West Arena.

On August 7, the Mercury honored an original member of the team by retiring Michele Timms' jersey. "Timmsy's" #7 was sent to the rafters in front of 10,286 Mercury fans, the largest crowd of the season. After the halftime ceremony, the X-Factor was treated to a 59-57 Mercury victory.

The 2002 Mercury finished with a record of 11-21, missing the playoffs for the second consecutive season. On October 23, 2002, the Mercury announced the hiring of John Shumate as the club's third head coach in franchise history. Shumate joined the Mercury with a wealth of basketball knowledge having played in the NBA for several seasons before joining the Toronto Raptors coaching staff as an assistant and then the Phoenix Suns scouting staff.

2003 SEASON

The 2003 season marked the seventh anniversary for the WNBA, and one of it's charter franchises, the Phoenix Mercury. Under the direction of first-year head coach John Shumate, the 2003 Mercury finished the season with an 8-26 record. Although not the season they had hoped for, the record was certainly not indicative of the effort put forth both on and off the court by the Mercury.

The Mercury had the fourth pick in the 2003 Draft, the club's highest draft pick to date, and selected 6'2" forward Plenette Pierson from Texas Tech. The Mercury also added veteran leadership at the point guard position by selecting Tamicha Jackson in the WNBA's Dispersal Draft. After all their preseason moves, the Mercury found themselves with one of the youngest rosters in the WNBA.

With a new coach in place, and just four players returning from the 2002 squad, the 2003 Mercury spent the majority of the season trying to implement a new defensive style, as well as jell together as a team during the short 34-game season. Not an easy task for such a young squad.

On July 2, 2002 veteran forward Adrian Williams was named to the 2003 WNBA All-Star Team, the first Mercury player to be named to an All-Star Team since 2000. Williams joins Michele Timms, Jennifer Gillom and Brandy Reed as representatives of Phoenix in the All-Star Game. In her All-Star debut, the 6'4" Williams saw 19 minutes of action en route to nine points, six rebounds and two steals as the West defeated the East 84-75.

Signed by the Mercury as a free agent in April, Anna DeForge quickly stepped up as the Mercury's on-court leader. Returning to the league after a two-year absence, DeForge finished the season as the Mercury's leading scorer (11.9 ppg) and finished among the league's top ten in three-point shooting (.412). A strong candidate for the WNBA's Most Improved Player Award, DeForge led the Mercury in scoring on 14 occasions.

While the Mercury managed eight victories on the season, the club lost 17 games by nine points or less and eight games by less than five points. On July 15, the Mercury battled the two-time defending champion Los Angeles Sparks to double-overtime before falling one point shy of the victory. Phoenix would see another double-overtime contest August 3 at Washington, this time emerging victorious in the extra sessions.

Off the court, the Mercury continued their strong support within the community by making numerous appearances through team and league programs. Mercury players volunteered their time to assist Valley children in the WNBA's Read to Achieve Program and also visited numerous schools, YMCAs and other venues for basketball clinics and camps. For her off-season dedication to the community, forward Kayte Christensen won the WNBA's Community Assist Award in May for all of her efforts across the Valley.

The 2004 season marked a new era in Mercury history with a new coach, new owners and the number one pick in both the draft and the dispersal draft. While the Mercury fell a game short of making the playoffs, the Mercury more than doubled their win total from the previous season and established themselves as an improved team and contender for the upcoming seasons.

In February 2004, as the WNBA entered its eighth season, the Phoenix Mercury became the first team in WNBA history to have individual owners invest in the team as Anne Mariucci and Kathy Munro paid 1 million for an initial 10 percent stake in the Mercury.

Two months later, the Phoenix Mercury announced the hiring of Carrie Graf as their head coach. Graf was no stranger to the Mercury, having spent four seasons as an assistant coach with the Mercury (1998, 1999, 2001 and 2003). Graf became the fifth head coach in Mercury history and led the Mercury to a 17-17 record in her first season.

Joining Graff on the sidelines was former Minnesota Lynx head coach Brian Agler and a familiar face in the Mercury organization, former guard/forward Lisa Harrison who retired in the offseason.

On April 17, 2004, history was made as the Mercury selected UCONN sensation Diana Taurasi with the first pick. Mercury joined Penny Taylor who was selected first overall in the dispersal draft.

With a new coach and new players, the Mercury started the season slow, falling to 8-12 after a home loss to Minnesota on July 19. However, after acquiring Gwen Jackson from the San Antonio Silver Stars for 2003 All-Star Adrian Williams, the Mercury went on to win eight of their next nine games.

The Mercury and the rest of the WNBA took a break from action during the month of August to let their players compete in the 2004 Olympics in Greece. The Mercury sent two players to the Olympics. Taurasi represented the United States and forward Taylor represented Australia. The two met face to face in the gold medal game, where the United States prevailed 73-63 and took home the gold medal. Taurasi scored eight points in that game and Taylor led Australia with 16 points in that game.

The Mercury returned to action on September 1, and won their first four games and improved to 16-13, but the Mercury dropped their next four games and fell one game short of making the playoffs.

Individually, the 2004 season was led by three players, Taurasi, Taylor and veteran guard Anna DeForge. The trio scored 1,500 of the Mercury's 2,300 points, or 65 percent of the team's offense (Taurasi 578, DeForge 488 and Taylor 434).

Taurasi became the first player in WNBA history to start her career with three consecutive 20+ point games. She went on to average 17.0 ppg and won the Rookie of the Year award and also was named to the All-WNBA First Team. DeForge finished the season averaging 14.4 points a game and was named to the WNBA select team that played the US Olympic team before they traveled to Greece. She also was named WNBA Player of the Week for the week of July 5.

Off the court, the Mercury continued their strong showing in the community with various appearances and team and league programs. Mercury players volunteered their time to assist Valley children in the WNBA's Read to Achieve and Mind, Body, Spirit programs and also visited numerous schools, YMCAs and other venues for basketball clinics and camps.

The story of the 2005 Phoenix Mercury was one of peaks and valleys that left the team headed in the right direction for 2006, hungry for the postseason play that barely escaped its grasp for the second straight year.

Shorthanded to begin the season, the Mercury opened the 2005 campaign with a 3-10 record. Phoenix played the first several weeks of the season without what would become three-fifths of their starting line-up: Penny Taylor, Kamila Vodichkova and Maria Stepanova, who would all join the team at various points during the season. Stepanova, the final piece of the puzzle, returned to the club for the first time since the 2001 season, and helped to trigger one of the largest in-season turnarounds in WNBA history.

The 3-10 Mercury went 11-4 once Maria joined the squad, improbably climbing back into the hunt in the West. At one point from June 15 to August 25, Phoenix won eight straight home contests with the West. However, for the second straight season, Phoenix lost four of the team's pivotal final six games and was beaten out of the final Western Conference playoff spot.

In the process, though, Phoenix played an entertaining brand of basketball, especially at America West Arena. The Mercury scored 70+ points in 14 of the team's final 20 games after doing it just three times in the first 14. The Mercury were 11-6 when reaching the 70-point plateau, including 10-3 at home. Phoenix was also 15-4 when holding the opponent under 70 (1-14 when failing to do so).

It was a season of honors for Mercury guard and league icon Diana Taurasi. Taurasi became just the second player in Mercury history to reach 1,000 career points in just her second season in the league, joining Jennifer Gillom. Taurasi made her first trip to the All-Star game, becoming the first Mercury player to be voted-in as a starter since Michele Timms in 1999. Hosted by the Connecticut Sun, Taurasi was no doubt a crowd favorite, returning to the state of her collegiate glory. In addition, the 6-foot guard was named the WNBA's Player of the Week for the first time in her career for the week of August 1, 2005, after leading the team to a 2-0 record against conference foes in the playoff hunt, and nearly recording a triple-double on August 5th against Houston. Taurasi finished the season fourth in the league in scoring (16.0), fifth in assists (4.5) and scored 20 or more points seven different times, including a career-high 31 point effort in the season finale in Seattle.

It was a season of firsts for Phoenix against the rival Los Angeles Sparks. The Mercury won the season series (2-1) for the first time in franchise history, and won at Staples Center for the first ever. Phoenix enters the 2006 season having won three of the last four meetings against Los Angeles after losing the previous 18.

The Mercury hopes to capitalize on this, other momentum and renewed confidence, and return to the playoffs in their tenth-anniversary season.

As the heat rose in the desert during the 2006 WNBA season, league and franchise records were toppled by the high-powered offense of the 10th anniversary Phoenix Mercury and its dominant backcourt of Diana Taurasi and rookie Cappie Pondexter.

The Mercury entered 2006 with just four returning players, newly built for the run-and-gun style of first-year head coach Paul Westhead. Joining All-Star Taurasi was collegiate standout Pondexter, who the Mercury selected with the second overall pick in the draft, a selection that helped the Phoenix assemble one of the most prolific scoring duos in league history. Guard Kelly Miller was brought in via trade to help push the tempo and Penny Taylor joined the team late.

With high expectations to begin the season, the young Mercury, still adapting to a new system and players, were humbled in a 27-point season-opening loss to the defending champion Sacramento Monarchs. Phoenix would drop its first four games of the season. Despite being slowed by foul trouble in the season-opening loss, the rookie made herself at home in the league quickly. Pondexter scored 30 points in back-to-back games (the fourth and fifth overall games of her career) to become the third player all-time to accomplish the feat. It was a sign of things to come for the Mercury and its powerful offense.

In Pondexter's second 30-point effort on June 6 against Sacramento, Mercury All-Star Diana Taurasi posted her first 30-point game of the year, the first time in league history teammates scored 30 or more in the same game. Pondexter, named to the All-Rookie team at the season's conclusion, garnered one Player of the Week honor (June 5-11) while All-WNBA First Team member Taurasi won two (July 3-9, August 7-13).

Taurasi captured the attention of the entire league with the most productive offensive season in WNBA history. Dee now holds the league records for scoring average (25.3), points in a season (860) and points in a single game (47). She took ahold of league records for field goals made and attempted in a season and three-point field goals made and attempted in both a season and a game. Taurasi tied former Comets guard Cynthia Cooper's WNBA record with eight 30-point games in 2006 and joined current Shock guard Katie Smith as the only players to score 40 or more points multiple times in a single season. She scored 30 or more in back-to-back games twice, joining Cooper as the only players ever to do so.

Taurasi and Pondexter helped the Mercury find its mojo and become the most powerful offense in league history, averaging a WNBA-record 87.1 points per game, reaching triple digits twice, including a franchise-record 112-point explosion on August 3 vs. Charlotte.

Clicking on all cylinders, the Mercury closed the season by winning a franchise-record seven consecutive games, posting a perfect 7-0 August and finishing the season 18-16. It marked the Mercury's first winning season since 2000 and gave Phoenix the same record as three playoff teams, but unfortunately the club missed a postseason berth for the third consecutive season by the narrowest of margins. Missing the playoffs automatically qualified the Mercury for the draft lottery, where, despite a 2.5 percent chance (25 out of 1000), Phoenix won the No. 1 pick in the 2007 WNBA Draft.

The Mercury is rising in Phoenix and the future is bright.

The 2007 WNBA season saw a unique start. Despite a 2.5 percent chance (25 out of 1,000), Phoenix won the lottery for the No. 1 pick in the WNBA Draft. With this pick, General Manager Ann Meyers Drysdale made the groundbreaking decision to trade the draft rights to No. 1 pick Lindsey Harding to Minnesota for veteran post player Tangela Smith. The Mercury had closed out the 2006 season on a franchise-record seven game win-streak, and with the addition of Smith along with the return of its dominant backcourt of Diana Taurasi and rookie Cappie Pondexter, the team looked to pick up where they left off with the fast-paced offense of Head Coach Paul Westhead.

Phoenix started the season off that way with an opening day victory at home versus the conference rival San Antonio Silver Stars on May 19, 2007 in front of an electric home crowd, the "X-Factor", of over 10,000 fans. Phoenix would see continued early success, finishing the month of May with a 4-1 record. Taurasi scored a Mercury season-high 37 points on May 25 as Phoenix defeated Houston, 111-85, tied for the third-highest point-scoring game by one team in WNBA history.

The 2007 Mercury shattered league scoring records for the second consecutive season, averaging a league-high 89.0 points per game. Phoenix became just the second team in WNBA history to lead the league in scoring in back-to-back seasons, joining the 2001 and 2002 Los Angeles Sparks, who won back-to-back WNBA Championships. The squad also increased their all-time number of 100-point games from two to 12, all of which have come under coach Westhead.

The offensive guru became the second-winningest coach in franchise history, passing Carrie Graf. In his two seasons with the club, Westhead compiled a 41-27 record and a .603 winning percentage, the highest in franchise history. Westhead also owns the best 68-game record in team history and was the fastest Mercury coach to 40 wins.

After back-to-back home losses on June 20 to Washington and June 22 to Detroit dropped the Mercury to .500 at 7-7, Phoenix won sixteen of its last twenty games and turned the season around. Through those final 20 games Penny Taylor, a strong candidate for 2007 WNBA MVP, caught fire and averaged 20.8 points per game to end the season. Taylor also scored at least 25 points in four consecutive games (all victories) from June 30-July 6, tying the WNBA record for consecutive games of 25 or more points.

Phoenix would finish the season with a franchise-record 23 victories and finish a franchise-record 12 games over .500. Entering the 2007 season, no Mercury team had ever been 10 games above .500.

The Mighty Mercury entered the 2007 Playoffs as the No. 1 seed in the Western Conference. The team ended the longest postseason drought in WNBA history, clinching a playoff berth for the first time since the 2000 season on August 17. The Mercury would face 2007 WNBA MVP Lauren Jackson and the Seattle Storm in the first round.

In Game One of the series, the Mercury won their first postseason game in almost nine years as they defeated the Storm 101-84. In Game Two, Phoenix jumped out to an early 27-14 lead at the end of the first quarter and never looked back. "The Storm was over" as Phoenix ended Seattle's playoff run, winning the series 2-0. Cappie Pondexter led the team in the series, scoring 23.0 points per game. Phoenix now faced the powerhouse San Antonio Silver Stars in the Western Conference Finals.

Game One against the Silver Stars was a different story, with the two teams tied, 20-20, at the end of the first period. The rest of the game was much the same, with Becky Hammon hitting a three-pointer to tie the game at 100. On the inbound, Pondexter was fouled and sent to the charity stripe, where she hit both shots to go up 1-0 in the series. The Mercury trailed, 47-42, at halftime in Game Two. Late in the game, Phoenix used a 12-2 run to go up, 96-86, in the last minute. The Mercury went on to defeat the Silver Stars, and won the series 2-0. Phoenix advanced to the WNBA Finals where they would face the Eastern Conference juggernaut Detroit Shock.

Game One of the Finals was a true nail-biter, with the Mercury trailing by just four points in the waning minutes of the game. Phoenix was unable to overcome the deficit and fell, 100-108. Game Two was all Mercury as they enjoyed a 48-23 halftime lead. Diana Taurasi led the Mercury to victory with a playoff career-high 30 points, and Phoenix evened the series at 1-1 heading back to the Valley of the Sun. The Mercury struggled from the floor in Game Three and were defeated 83-88. It was now a must-win situation for Phoenix, who needed to win Game Four at home in order to force a fifth in Detroit. As the lead went back-and-forth in the closing minutes of Game Four, Deanna Nolan hit a jump shot to go up, 76-75. Pondexter, the eventual WNBA Finals MVP, came back and hit a close bank shot with 21.7 seconds to go, and the Mercury defeated the Shock, 77-76. Game Five belonged to the Mighty Mercury, who got out to an early 30-17 lead, shooting 73.3% from the field in the first quarter. The Mercury never trailed as they went on to win 108-92. For the first time in WNBA history a champion was crowned on the road. For the sixth time in the 11-year league history, the WNBA scoring champion went on to become the eventual WNBA champion.

The Sun shines brightly in the Land of the Mighty Mercury.

Phoenix kicked off its 12th season with Championship Saturday, where at the Mercury's home opener on May 17, 2008, the team received its 2007 championship rings while a banner was raised to commemorate the city's first WNBA championship. The 13,749 fans at US Airways Center marked the second-highest home opener attendance in franchise history, second only to the Mercury's inaugural game on June 22, 1997. The season concluded with overall increases in attendance, television ratings, and website traffic.

Behind first-year head coach Corey Gaines, the Mercury started the season 0-4. However, Phoenix turned it around by winning eight of its next 11 games to improve to 8-7 on July 1. That stretch included a five-game East Coast road trip on which Phoenix went 4-1.

The Mercury continued its high-scoring ways in 2008, becoming the first team in WNBA history to lead the league in scoring in three consecutive seasons. The club averaged 88.5 points per game and missed setting a WNBA record in scoring for the third-straight season by just a half-point. Phoenix recorded back-to-back 100-point games for the third time in franchise history, defeating the Connecticut Sun 102-81 on June 18 and the Chicago Sky 112-105 on June 20, the third highest-scoring game in WNBA history. The Mercury's 112 points matched the club's franchise record for points in a game as well.

Phoenix brought in a few new faces to help with rebounding and post scoring, an area the team looked to improve in 2008. Veteran post Barbara Farris was signed, as well as Le'Coe Willingham, who finished the season with the league's highest field goal percentage. The Mercury selected North Carolina's LaToya Pringle with the 13th overall pick in the 2008 WNBA Draft. Pringle became the first rookie in WNBA history to record five blocks in consecutive games, doing so on June 11 and 14.

The WNBA took a month-long hiatus in 2008 while the Olympic Games took place in Beijing, China. At that point, the Mercury owned a 12-15 record. Phoenix was one of just two teams in the league to have two players represent USA in the Olympics. Phoenix All-Stars Diana Taurasi and Cappie Pondexter helped the U.S. Olympic Women's Basketball Team to an undefeated 8-0 record and gold medal in the games, the second gold medal for Taurasi and first for Pondexter.

After a loss to San Antonio in the first game back from the break on August 28, the Mercury went on a three-game win streak from September 3-7. Phoenix went 4-3 after the month-long break, and finished 16-18 on the season, barely missing the postseason. Taurasi and Pondexter finished as the league's top two scorers, averaging 24.1 and 21.2 points per game, respectively. It was the first time in league history that teammates have finished a season No. 1 and 2 in scoring. Taurasi was named the 2008 WNBA Peak Performer in scoring after leading the league in scoring for the second time in her career (2006).

With the fifth overall pick in the 2009 WNBA draft and behind the fast-paced offense of coach Gaines, the Mercury look to return to the Western Conference playoffs in 2009.

2009 SEASON

The 2009 WNBA season began the way the Mercury had hoped in a few ways. First, the Mercury selected Auburn guard/forward DeWanna Bonner with the fifth overall pick in the 2009 WNBA Draft. The Mercury would later state that the club would've selected her had they owned the first overall selection. General Manager Ann Meyers Drysdale made a number of moves in the offseason to bring in players like Temeka Johnson and Nicole Ohlde to surround the team's core with talented role players. Pair these offseason transactions with the opportunity to take advantage of a full training camp and preseason complete with stars Diana Taurasi and Cappie Pondexter, and the Mercury was prepared for a championship-caliber 2009 campaign.

Phoenix started off with a league-best 5-1 record through its first six games. That start included four 90-point games and a 115-104 overtime victory over the Sacramento Monarchs at US Airways Center on June 13. The Mercury's 115 points marked the most points scored in a single game (non-regulation) in WNBA history. Behind second-year Head Coach Corey Gaines, the Mercury won 14 of its first 19 games, marking the team's best 19-game start in franchise history. The Mercury lost consecutive games just once in 2009 on June 21 and 23. After those two losses, Phoenix won 18 of its last 26 games overall.

On July 17, 2009, the Mercury announced the return of one of the world's highest-profile players, Penny Taylor, to its lineup. Taylor had been a pivotal contributor to the club's championship success in 2007, and after her absence from the team for the 2008 WNBA season, the Mercury felt she was the missing piece needed for another championship run.

Diana Taurasi continued to make her mark on the franchise and WNBA in 2009. On Aug. 8 vs. Indiana, Taurasi became the franchise's all-time leader in games played, giving her the top spot on the club's lists for tenure, games and minutes played, scoring, field goals made, defensive rebounds and blocks. On Sept. 5, 2009, Taurasi became the fastest player in WNBA history to record 4,000 career points. DT3 eclipsed the milestone in 197 games, 12 games faster than any other player in WNBA history.

In 2009, the Mercury not only led the league in scoring for an unprecedented fourth-straight season, but set a new WNBA record for scoring average for the third time in four seasons with its blistering 92.8 points per game. The Mercury reached the century mark nine times in 2009, more than any other team in the league has in their respective franchise history. Phoenix also became the first franchise in WNBA history to lead the league in scoring, field goal percentage and free throw percentage in multiple seasons, joining the 2007 Mercury and 2000 Houston Comets. From the charity stripe, the 2009 Mercury shot an astonishing 85.5 percent, better than any team in the history of the WNBA or NBA.

Head Coach Corey Gaines guided the Mercury to a franchise-record tying 23-11 mark, earning the top overall seed in the 2009 WNBA Playoffs and home court advantage throughout. After narrowly missing the postseason in his first season as head coach in 2008, Phoenix became the first team in the WNBA to clinch a playoff berth in 2009.

The Mercury took on the San Antonio Silver Stars in the Western Conference Semifinals. In Game One of the best-of-three series at AT&T Center on Sept. 17, Phoenix fell 91-92 to the Silver Stars despite a 13-point fourth quarter from Penny Taylor. Heading back to Phoenix facing elimination, the Mercury handed the Silver Stars a 106-78 loss at US Airways Center on Sept. 19, thanks to 16 points and 13 rebounds in just 22 minutes from first-round draft pick and 2009 WNBA Sixth Woman of the Year DeWanna Bonner. Despite trailing after three quarters in Game Three on Sept. 21, Phoenix outscored San Antonio 34-23 in the final period to earn a 100-92 victory and advance to the Western Conference Finals.

On deck for the Mercury in the Western Conference Finals were the Los Angeles Sparks. In Game One, played at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion, the Mercury's three-point prowess helped the club earn a 103-94 victory to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three series heading back to Phoenix. Game Two was a different story, with the Mercury trailing from start to finish and suffering a low-scoring, 76-87 defeat, forcing another decisive Game Three. With a trip to the WNBA Finals on the line in Game Three on Sept. 26, the Mercury held the Sparks to just seven first quarter points and enjoyed a 15-point lead at the end of the first half. In Lisa Leslie's last WNBA game before retiring, Phoenix's defense scored 21 points off of 16 Los Angeles turnovers and held 2008 MVP Candace Parker to just six points, earning an 85-74 victory and the club's second WNBA Finals appearance in three seasons.

The Mercury faced the Eastern Conference's most elite team, the Indiana Fever, in the WNBA Finals. Game One at US Airways Center on Sept. 29 will not soon be forgotten. Tied 105-105 going into overtime, the Mercury trailed (115-116) with just 1:40 remaining before Cappie Pondexter, the 2007 WNBA Finals MVP, scored five-straight to push the game out of reach and secure a 120-116 victory in the highest-scoring game in WNBA history. In Game Two, Phoenix struggled from the field and lost Penny Taylor midgame due to injury, suffering an 84-93 defeat to even the series heading to Indiana for Games Three and Four. The Mercury was dealt a one-point (85-86) loss in a controversial Game Three at Conseco Fieldhouse and faced elimination going into Game Four on Oct. 7. With their backs against the wall, Phoenix evened the series, earning a 90-77 victory in Game Four and bringing the series back to the Valley of the Sun for a winner-take-all Game Five. On Oct. 9, in front of a sold-out US Airways Center crowd of 17,313 (the largest postseason attendance in Mercury history), the Mercury and Fever gave fans their money's worth. Tied 80-80 with less than five minutes remaining, Phoenix outscored Indiana 14-6 the rest of the way to seal a 94-86 victory and hoist the club's second WNBA championship trophy in three years.

The Mercury, with two championship trophies in-hand and a world-class core of players and coaches, looks to continue its championship success in 2010.

2010 SEASON

The foundation of the defending champion Phoenix Mercury seemed to be rocked just prior to the start of the 2010 season when All-Star guard Cappie Pondexter requested a trade to New York after winning two championships in four years in the Valley of the Sun, but General Manager Ann Meyers Drysdale quickly reassembled the club from inside out. As part of the three-team deal involving Pondexter, the Mercury acquired All-Star forward Candice Dupree from the Chicago Sky on March 30 and two-and-a-half weeks later forward Penny Taylor and guard Temeka Johnson re-signed multi-year deals with the club. It appeared then that the two-time WNBA champions had all of the right pieces to repeat in 2010.

The season tipped off on May 15 when the players and coaches received their rings as part of Championship Saturday and promptly defeated Los Angeles 78-77 thanks to a pair of made free throws by Taylor with 1.5 seconds left. It was a promising start as the Mercury has made the playoffs each year it has won the season opener.

After an overtime loss to Seattle a week later and a win over the relocated Tulsa Shock in the first of four record-setting matchups, the Mercury went on to win just three of its next 13 games stumbling to a 5-11 start. Similar to its two championship seasons, though, the month of July became the bright spot of the regular season and the Mercury seemed to round into championship form.

Racing to a 6-3 record for the month, the league's most potent offense averaged 105.3 points in those nine games highlighted by a WNBA record seven consecutive 90-point performances and back-to-back record nights. On July 22 the Mercury scored 123 points in a win at Tulsa, a WNBA record that lasted all of 48 hours. In its next game at Minnesota on July 24, the Mercury overcame a 14-point fourth quarter deficit to force overtime and eventually win 127-124 in 2OT. The 251 combined points shattered the previous WNBA record for most points scored in a game set in 2006 during a triple overtime matchup between Phoenix (111) and Houston (110).

Sandwiched between the bombshell outings was another burst of fireworks coming in the form of a trade. After defeating the Shock on Thursday night, the Mercury acquired Tulsa forward Kara Braxton on Friday. The 6-6 forward added a physical presence that was absent from the Mercury front court and wasted no time making an impact. In her first game in front of the X-Factor on July 29, the same game Phoenix scored a WNBA record 69 first half points, Braxton poured in 20 points and grabbed six rebounds in just 18 minutes of play helping the Mercury to a 110-92 win over Minnesota.

An even larger factor in the club's turnaround was the emergence of Dupree who finally caught up to the Mercury's up-tempo pace. Through nine games in July, the 6-2 forward topped her previous season high in scoring five times, including a career-high 32 points at Minnesota, and recorded three double-doubles to average 22.3 points and 9.3 rebounds per game. On her way to setting a franchise record for highest field goal percentage in a season (.664), Dupree made 69.7% of her shots during the month and won her third career Player of the Week award.

The momentum carried into the first week of August when the Mercury won a season-best four consecutive games to cap off nine wins in a span of 11 games and moved above .500 (14-13) for the first time since starting the year 2-1. However, injuries and the decision to rest key players for the playoffs left the club with just one win in its final seven games.

Despite the 15-19 record, the Mercury still secured the second seed in the Western Conference and hosted San Antonio in the first round of the playoffs. Making the first postseason appearance of her career, Dupree led the Mercury to a Game One win with 32 points, the most ever scored by a postseason rookie. She followed that performance with a 19-point, 11-rebound double-double in Game Two to help Phoenix sweep San Antonio and advance to the Western Conference Finals.

The Western Conference Finals became the matchup every WNBA fan was anticipating: the defending champion Phoenix Mercury vs. the league-leading Seattle Storm. After a hard-fought Game One loss in Seattle the Mercury was forced into its eighth must-win situation in the last three postseasons (7-0). Playing in front of a raucous US Airways Center crowd for Game Two, the home team used a 20-1 run to take a 15-point first half lead and a 48-40 advantage into the break. The Mercury led by as many as 19 in the second half and by 13 with 5:35 left in the game behind Taurasi's game-high 28 points. The Storm took over from there, though, finishing the game on a 15-0 run capped by a Sue Bird three-pointer with 2.8 seconds left to steal the 91-88 win and the series.

Aside from the final record, the changes in personnel did not seem to slow the 2010 edition of the Phoenix Mercury. Living up to reputation, head coach Corey Gaines' squad led the league in scoring for the fifth consecutive season with 93.9 points per game, setting a new WNBA record for the fourth time in the last five years. The league's most potent offense eclipsed the century mark 10 times during the regular season surpassing its record set in 2009. Along with 22 WNBA and franchise single game records tied or broken in four meetings with Tulsa, Phoenix also shot a franchise best 47.3% from the field and dished out a WNBA record 20.2 assists per game.

History:
On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996, there have been many firsts for the WNBA:
Val Ackerman -- the first president of the WNBA
Sheryl Swoopes -- the first player signed to the WNBA
Cynthia Cooper -- the league's first Most Valuable Player
Houston Comets -- the first WNBA champions
Lisa Leslie -- the first WNBA player to dunk (July 30 2002 vs. Miami)
Lauren Jackson -- the first international player to win MVP (2007)
Candace Parker -- the first rookie to earn the league's MVP honor (2008)
Sylvia Fowles -- the first goaltending call (June 3, 2008 vs. L.A.)

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks, 67-57.

Fifteen years later, in a rematch of those same two teams at Staples Center in Los Angeles, the increased skill, talent, and athleticism of WNBA players was evident as the Sparks, led by center/forward Candace Parker, defeated the Liberty 96-91. In 2011, the league also selected its "Top 15 Players of All Time." Voting was conducted among fans, media, and current players and coaches. Those named to the list were Sue Bird, Tamika Catchings, Cynthia Cooper, Yolanda Griffith, Becky Hammon, Lauren Jackson, Lisa Leslie, Ticha Penicheiro, Cappie Pondexter, Katie Smith, Dawn Staley, Sheryl Swoopes, Diana Taurasi, Tina Thompson, and Teresa Weatherspoon,

A Growing Game:
The influence of the WNBA can be seen in the explosive growth of organized women's basketball over the past 14 seasons. An estimated 100 million women play basketball worldwide, and the league reflects this trend, featuring 15 international players from six countries and territories at the start of the 2011 season. Female AAU youth basketball participation has increased 277 percent since 1991 (from 28,840 to 108,758 players). Female high school basketball participation has increased 17 percent since 1991 (from 387,802 to 456,967 players). And female NCAA basketball participation has increased 43 percent since 1991 (from 10,551 to 15,096 players).

Key Personnel:
Laurel J. Richie – President

All-Star Game:
The San Antonio Silver Stars and the AT&T Center hosted the 2011 WNBA All-Star Game presented by adidas in San Antonio on Saturday, July 23, 2011.

The first WNBA All-Star Game was held in New York at Madison Square Garden in 1999. The Garden also hosted the event in 2003 and in 2006. Washington's Verizon Center (2002, 2007) is the other venue to host the game multiple times. Other All-Star Games were played in Phoenix (2000), Orlando (2001), and at Mohegan Sun Arena in Uncasville, Conn. (2009). Due to the Olympics, no All-Star Game was held in 2004 and 2008, although Radio City Music Hall in New York City was the site of an exhibition game on August 5, 2004, as the U.S. National Team, comprised mainly of WNBA greats, faced a squad of WNBA All-Stars in "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Game at Radio City." In 2010, the WNBA held a special event called "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Stars at the Sun" at Mohegan Sun Arena in order to accommodate the FIBA World Championship schedule.

Inspiring Women:
The Inspiring Woman Award is an annual honor that celebrates an individual who, on a daily basis, demonstrates her ability to inspire others through her commitment, passion and dedication to work, family, and community. Past honorees include Emmy-award winning news anchor Katie Couric (2011), U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Susan Rice (2010), Emmy-award winning journalist Cokie Roberts (2009), Good Morning America's Robin Roberts (2008), Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice (2007), and the WNBA All-Decade Team (2006).

Dawn Staley Award:
The Dawn Staley Community Leadership Award was announced in 2006 and is now presented annually to the player who best exemplifies the characteristics of a leader in the community and reflects Staley's contagious leadership, spirit, charitable efforts, and love for the game. Winners include Charde Houston (2010), Chamique Holdsclaw (2009), Tamika Raymond (2008), and Tamika Catchings (2007). A member of the WNBA's All-Decade Team, Staley, who retired following the 2006 season, established herself as one of the greatest ambassadors in women's basketball history, while also demonstrating outstanding leadership qualities as a coach on the collegiate level and as a philanthropist and humanitarian.

Marketing:
The WNBA maintains marketing, promotional, and media partnerships with a variety of top companies, each with varying levels of activation and integration in league operations.

Marketing and Promotional Partners: adidas, American Express, Bacardi, BBVA, Boost Mobile, CieAura, Coca-Cola, Deuce Brand, EA Sports, Gatorade, General Mills/Wheaties, Growums, Hayworth, HP, InterContinental Hotels Group (IHG) Hotels, Jamba Juice, NewTek, Nike, Panasonic, Pepperidge Farm, Pirate's Booty, Russell Athletic, Sanofi Aventis, Sanofi Pasteur, Spalding

Media Partners: USA Today, Parenting Group, Essence, Heart & Soul

The WNBA's marketing partners utilize the league to support women's sports and reach its strong fanbase of women, families, and young girls through advertising in WNBA nationally televised games, national promotions, player endorsements, and special events.

On Aug. 22, 2011 the WNBA and Boost Mobile, an industry leader in no-contract wireless service, announced a landmark multiyear marketing partnership that makes Boost Mobile the first leaguewide marquee partner of the WNBA. As the league's most prominent partner, Boost Mobile is tied closely to the WNBA brand on a national level. As part of this partnership, the Boost Mobile brand is prominently featured on the front of the game jerseys of 10 teams. Additionally, special programming highlighting the "WNBA's Top 15 Moments presented by Boost Mobile" is included as part of the league's 15th season celebration.

The WNBA has an extensive, highly integrated relationship with adidas. The sporting goods and apparel giant has served as the official outfitter of the WNBA, having unveiled new uniforms across the league in 2007 and again in 2011. In 2008, adidas became the first-ever presenting partner of the WNBA's entire postseason, including both the playoffs and Finals, and was the presenting partner for the 2011 WNBA All-Star Game.

Five WNBA teams have entered the league's Marquee Partnership program, which includes multiyear deals featuring branded sponsorship of game jerseys – the Phoenix Mercury partnering with LifeLock, the Los Angeles Sparks with Farmers Insurance Group, the Seattle Storm with Microsoft search engine Bing, the New York Liberty with Foxwoods Resort Casino, and the Washington Mystics with Inova Health System.

Attendance/TV Ratings:
In 2011, WNBA attendance increased for the fifth consecutive year and regular-season TV viewership on ESPN2 reached its highest level since 2005, as fans responded to one of the most compelling seasons in the league's 15-year history.

Viewership for the league's showcase events also increased. Viewership for the WNBA All-Star Game on ABC was up 46 percent vs. the last All-Star on ABC in 2009 (there was no All-Star Game in 2010). Viewership for the 2011 WNBA Finals was up four percent over the 2010 championship series. U.S. ratings for the first round of the 2011 WNBA Draft on ESPN increased 47 percent vs. the first round of 2010 Draft on ESPN2.

The WNBA's broadcast coverage in 2011 included more than two dozen high-definition regular-season playoffs and Finals games on ESPN2 and ABC, as well as 70 regular-season games and up to six playoff games on NBA TV. In addition, all WNBA games were available online via WNBA LiveAccess unless: (a) They were televised on ABC or ESPN2 – in which case they streamed live on ESPN3.com and were later archived to WNBA.com, or (b) Their game window fell within a national broadcast window on ABC or ESPN2.

In July 2007, the WNBA signed a new, eight-year TV deal with ESPN that tipped off in 2009 and runs through 2016, the WNBA's 20th season. The agreement, which calls for ABC, ESPN, and ESPN2 to telecast WNBA games, includes rights fees, a first for any women's professional team sports league in the U.S.

Digital/Social Media:
WNBA Digital assets continued to increase in popularity as WNBA.com saw continued growth during the 2011 season, with daily unique visits up 13 percent and overall visits up 11 percent. WNBA games streamed online at WNBA.com via LiveAccess saw a 55 percent increase in unique users. In terms of social media, the WNBA YouTube channel experienced a 35 percent increase in video views this season. The WNBA Facebook page (www.Facebook.com/wnba) saw an 11 percent increase in fans.

Global Reach:
The WNBA has a wide impact on overseas markets. In 2011, WNBA games and programming reached a record 203 countries in 25 languages. In addition, for the sixth consecutive year, fans around the globe are able to view WNBA action via live Webcasts on WNBA.com.

End-of-season 2011 WNBA rosters featured 15 international players from seven countries and territories. Among the league's international contingent are the three-time MVP, Seattle Storm forward/center Lauren Jackson (Australia), the Indiana Fever's Tammy Sutton-Brown (Canada), the San Antonio Silver Stars' Sophia Young (St. Vincent), the Los Angeles Sparks' Ticha Penicheiro (Portugal), and Tulsa's Liz

Cambage (Australia), whom the Shock selected with the No. 2 overall pick in the 2011 Draft.

WNBA Draft:
The 2012 WNBA Draft presented by Boost Mobile took place on April 16 at ESPN headquarters in Bristol, Conn. It was the second straight year in which the league's draft was held on the ESPN campus. The Los Angeles Sparks selected Stanford University forward Nnemkadi Ogwumike as the No. 1 overall pick. The Seattle Storm selected Shekinna Stricklen second, the Minnesota Lynx tabbed Devereaux Peters third, the Tulsa Shock chose Glory Johnson fourth, and the San Antonio Silver Stars took Jantel Lavender fifth to round out the first five selections. In 2011, Maya Moore, selected No. 1 overall by the Lynx, went on to become the fifth top pick in the past six seasons to win Rookie of the Year honors.

Ownership:
Six WNBA teams now fall under the independent ownership model: the Atlanta Dream, Chicago Sky, Connecticut Sun, Los Angeles Sparks, Seattle Storm, and Tulsa Shock.

The Tulsa Shock (formerly Detroit), which began play in Tulsa in 2010, is owned by Tulsa Pro Hoops L.L.C. The Connecticut Sun, which began operation in 2003 after relocating from Orlando, is owned by the Mohegan Tribe. The Chicago Sky is owned by Michael Alter.

Entering the 2012 season, 10 women also serve as majority or minority owners of WNBA teams: Dr. Sheila Johnson (Washington Mystics); Paula Madison, Kathy Goodman and Carla Christofferson (Los Angeles Sparks); Mary Brock and Kelly Loeffler (Atlanta); and Dawn Trudeau, Ginny Gilder, and Lisa Brummel of Force 10 Hoops L.L.C. (Seattle Storm). A 10th, musical artist Michelle Williams, formerly of "Destiny's Child," is a minority owner of the Chicago Sky.

Key Highlights:
WNBA player to become part owner of a team when she joined the existing ownership group of the Los Angeles Sparks led by Paula Madison and investors Kathy Goodman and Carla Christofferson.

In 2010, Tina Thompson of the Los Angeles Sparks became the all-time scoring leader with 6,413 points, surpassing her former teammate, Lisa Leslie (6,263) who retired following the 2009 season.

Tina Charles won the 2010 WNBA Rookie of the Year award after averaging 15.5 ppg, 11.7 rpg, and 1.7 bpg, while also setting league records for most rebounds (398) and doubles-doubles (22) in a season.

Lauren Jackson won the 2010 WNBA MVP presented by Kia Motors award and also took home 2010 WNBA Finals MVP honors.

Jackson also became the third player to earn WNBA MVP honors three times (2003, 2007, 2010), joining the Sparks' Lisa Leslie (2001, 2004, 2006) and the Houston Comets' Sheryl Swoopes (2000, 2002, 2005). Houston's Cynthia Cooper earned the award twice (1997, 1998). The others to capture MVP honors are the Sacramento Monarchs' Yolanda Griffith (1999), the Sparks' Candace Parker (2008, when she became the first rookie in league history to earn the award), and the Phoenix Mercury's Diana Taurasi (2009).

Lisa Leslie of the Los Angeles Sparks became the first – and only – WNBA player to capture the regular-season, All-Star, and Finals MVP awards in the same season (2001).

Candace Parker became the first WNBA player to win Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player in the same season (2008). The first selection in the 2008 WNBA Draft, she earned both honors after leading the league in double-doubles and rebounds per game, while also ranking second in blocks per game and fourth in points per game.

Lauren Jackson became the WNBA's youngest (26 years, 77 days) and fastest (209 games) to score her 4,000th career point on July 27, 2007. Diana Taurasi subsequently surpassed Jackson as the fastest to 4,000 points in terms of fewest games played when she reached the milestone on July 27, 2009 in just 197 games.

Taurasi rewrote the WNBA scoring records in 2006 when she led the league with 25.3 points per contest, became the first WNBA player to top 800 points in a single season (860), and the single-season mark for three-point field-goals (121), and the single-game mark for points (47, a number later equaled by the Storm's Lauren Jackson in 2007).

Sheryl Swoopes, who earned MVP and Defensive Player of the Year honors in 2000 and 2002, recorded the league's first triple-double (14 points, 15 rebounds, 10 assists) vs. the Detroit Shock on July 27, 1999.

Lisa Leslie became the first player to dunk in a WNBA game when she did so on July 30, 2002 versus the Miami Sol. Candace Parker, also of the Sparks, was the second, dunking versus the Indiana Fever on June 22, 2008.

WNBA Cares:
Through the WNBA Cares initiative, the league is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on promoting health and wellness, youth and family development, and education. WNBA teams and players donate countless dollars and hours each year through league programs including WNBA FIT, Breast Health Awareness, and WNBA Green.

1997 PLAYOFFS

PHOENIX/NEW YORK 1997 SEMI-FINALS

In the inaugural WNBA season, the Phoenix Mercury made it all the way to the WNBA playoffs. With eight teams in the league and four in each conference, only four teams would advance to the playoffs. The East was made up of Charlotte, Cleveland, New York and Houston, while the West was made up of Phoenix, Los Angeles, Sacramento and Utah. The playoff series included two rounds of single elimination games. Phoenix faced New York in their first playoff appearance in front of a sold out crowd at America West Arena on 8/28. The closest the Mercury came to the lead was in the first half when they were down by one point (8-7). Phoenix fought a losing battle as they went on a 6-0 run late in the second half, but it wasn't enough momentum to keep the Mercury alive. Phoenix only came within five points the second half as New York defeated Phoenix 59-41. Phoenix was led by the efforts of Jennifer Gillom scoring nine points and grabbing seven rebounds while Marlies Askamp added nine points. New York went on to meet Houston in the WNBA Finals. The Comets defeated the Liberty, 65-51, at the Compaq Center on 8/30.

PHOENIX/CLEVELAND 1998 SEMI-FINALS

The WNBA playoffs changed for the better in 1998. The same rules applied from the 1997 season, with four teams with the best records advancing, but the series changed from two rounds of single elimination games to two rounds of the best of three series. For the second year, Phoenix made it into the post season. In front of their home crowd, the Mercury posted a 78-68 victory over the Rockers in Game One on 8/22. Phoenix dominated the second half, with Jennifer Gillom posting 13 points. Phoenix then traveled to Cleveland on 8/24 for Game Two of the series. The Mercury came out strong in the first half but the Rockers slowly took the lead. Phoenix had a one-point advantage and a minute left to play when Merlakia Jones of Cleveland hit a lay-up for 67-66 win. Gillom hit 19 of her 27 points in the second half but it was not enough to give the Mercury the victory. The series was tied at one game a piece and the Mercury needed a win to advance to the WNBA Finals. Game Three was a battle at Cleveland on 8/25. The first half was a war with neither team being ahead by more than seven points at a time. The high energy from Bridget Pettis in the first half carried over into the second half as the Mercury dominated and won, 71-60. Pettis ended the game with 27 points, 14 points in the first half, and 11 rebounds, helping Phoenix get to the WNBA Finals. Gillom led the Mercury in the Cleveland series posting 19.7 ppg and 7.3 rpg in three games. The Mercury won the semi-final series, 2-1 and advanced themselves to the WNBA Finals, where they would face their season rivals, the Houston Comets.

1998 PLAYOFFS

PHOENIX/HOUSTON 1998 WNBA FINALS

Head Coach Cheryl Miller led her team to the WNBA Finals where they met Houston in a best of three game series. In Game One of the Finals, in front of a packed America West Arena, Phoenix defeated Houston 54-51 on 8/27. With two minutes left to play, a lay-up by Jennifer Gillom and a free throw by Michelle Griffiths, secured the Mercury win. The Mercury then traveled to Houston for what would be a battle till the end. Phoenix dominated Game Two on 8/29, until Houston went on an 11-0 run with two minutes left to play. Michele Timms was fired up as she led the Mercury with 21 points, 12 of which came in the first half. Then with under a minute left to play, Cynthia Cooper kept Houston alive with a jump shot, which sent the game into overtime (66-66). The Mercury fought to stay on top but Gillom's three points were the only numbers they posted in overtime. The Mercury fell 74-69 in overtime. With the series tied at one a piece, Phoenix had to defeat Houston at a sold out Compaq Center on 9/1 to capture the WNBA title. The battle continued in Game Three as Phoenix and Houston traded baskets for the first five minutes but the Mercury ended the first half down by six. Phoenix jumped out in the second half with an 11-2 run to take over the lead but could not hold on till the end, losing 80-71. Gillom led the Mercury in the Finals, scoring 14.3 ppg and rebounding 7.7 rpg in three games.

PHOENIX/LOS ANGELES 2000 FIRST ROUND

Phoenix made it to the post-season for the third time in four years and for the first time since the 1998 season. With the addition of four expansion teams in 2000, the playoffs featured the top four teams in each conference and three rounds of best-of-three game series. Phoenix entered the First Round as the fourth seed in the Western Conference and faced the top team in the league, the Los Angeles Sparks. The Sparks dominated the first game, never trailing, and building its biggest lead to 23 en route to an 86-71 victory at America West Arena. Lisa Leslie led L.A. with 20 points and 11 rebounds as the Sparks shot .515 from the field. Brandy Reed paced Phoenix with 17 points and was one of five Mercury players who scored in double figures. In the second game, the Sparks came out even stronger, shooting .557 from the field, including .640 in the second half, as they topped the Mercury 101-76 in Los Angeles. Phoenix led 10-8 at the 16:23 mark in the first half, but L.A. took the lead and never relinquished it as they swept the Mercury and advanced to the Western Conference Semi-Finals. Leslie again led the Sparks with 29 points, on 12-of-17 shooting, and 8 rebounds, and Mwadi Mabika added 15 points and 8 boards.

PHOENIX/SEATTLE 2007 FIRST ROUND

Phoenix ended the longest postseason drought in WNBA history and made the playoffs for the first time since the 2000 season. Entering the postseason as the No. 1 seed in the Western Conference, Phoenix went up against the Seattle Storm in a best-of-three series. In Game One of the series at Key Arena, the Mighty Mercury won their first postseason game in almost nine years as they defeated the Storm, 101-84. Penny Taylor and Diana Taurasi both contributed a team-high 22 points as Phoenix turned 18 Seattle turnovers into 32 points. In Game Two in front of a home crowd at US Airways Center, the Mercury jumped ahead to an early 27-14 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the second and third quarters the two teams traded baskets, but in the fourth quarter the Storm outscored the Mercury, 26-19. The fourth quarter push was not enough, however, as the Mercury won, 95-89. The Storm was over as the Mercury ended Seattle's playoff run, winning the series 2-0. Cappie Pondexter led the team in the series, scoring 23.0 points per game. Phoenix would advance to the Western Conference Semi-Finals where they would face the San Antonio Silver Stars.

PHOENIX/SAN ANTONIO 2007 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINALS

The Mercury headed to San Antonio for Game One of a best-of-three series at the AT&T Center. The Mercury and Silver Stars traded baskets in the first quarter and were tied, 20-20 at the quarter break. At halftime Phoenix was up, 50-47 thanks to Diana Taurasi's 13 first-half points. With two seconds left in the fourth quarter, however, Becky Hammon hit a three-pointer to tie the game at 100. As the Mercury in-bounded the ball, Shanna Crossley fouled Cappie Pondexter, sending her to the free throw line. Pondexter hit both free throws, and the Mercury went on to win a true nail-biter, 102-100. Pondexter's team-high 26 points were crucial in a game which saw the lead change 14 times. The battle continued in Game Two in front of an electric Mercury home crowd. Although Pondexter contributed 16 first-half points, the Mercury trailed, 47-42 at halftime. Tied at 84 with 2:26 left in the final quarter, Phoenix used a 12-2 run to go up, 96-86 in the last minute. The Mercury went on to defeat the Silver Stars, 98-92 and won the series, 2-0. Pondexter's 33 points were a 2007 Mercury Playoff high. Phoenix advanced to the WNBA Finals for the first time since 1998, where they would face the Eastern Conference powerhouse Detroit Shock.

PHOENIX/DETROIT 2007 WNBA FINALS

Head Coach Paul Westhead led his team to the WNBA Finals where they met Detroit in a best-of-five series. In Game One at the Palace of Auburn Hills the Mercury trailed, 35-41 at halftime. With three minutes to go in regulation, Phoenix trailed by just four points. The Mercury was forced to foul in the final minutes and could not overcome the deficit, losing 100-108. Kara Braxton led the Shock in rebounds with 12 as Detroit outrebounded Phoenix, 48-30. Penny Taylor tied a WNBA Finals record for most points in a game with her game-high 32 points. Game Two at the Palace was a different story. The Mercury enjoyed a 48-32 halftime lead as the Shock struggled from the field. Phoenix recorded team playoff highs in both three-point field goals attempted and made, going 16-of-44 from behind the arc, while Detroit shot a meager 3-of-20 from three-point range. Diana Taurasi led the way with a playoff career-high 30 points as the Mercury won, 98-70, evening the series at 1-1. The two teams headed back to Phoenix for Game Three at US Airways Center. The Mercury trailed, 45-50 at the half and struggled from the field, shooting 16.1% from behind the arc. Diana Taurasi led the Mercury with 22 points and six rebounds, as the Mercury fell, 88-83. It was now a must-win situation for Phoenix, who would now have to win the next two games against the Shock. Game four at US Airways Center saw another close game, with both teams neck-and-neck late in the game. As both teams exchanged baskets in the closing minutes, Deanna Nolan hit a jump shot to go up, 76-75. Cappie Pondexter came back and hit a close bank shot with 21.7 seconds to go, sealing a 77-76 Mercury win. Pondexter led the team with a game-high 26 points. Game Five at the Palace of Auburn Hills saw a charged-up Mercury squad. Out to an early 30-17 first-quarter lead, Phoenix shot 73.3% from the field in the opening period, a WNBA Finals record for highest field goal percentage in a quarter by one team. The Mercury never trailed as Phoenix went on to win, 108-92, becoming the first team ever to win a WNBA Championship on the road.

PHOENIX/SAN ANTONIO 2009 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMIFINALS

The Mercury entered the 2009 postseason as the No. 1 overall seed and faced the San Antonio Silver Stars in the best-of-three Western Conference Semifinals. In Game One at AT&T Center on Sep. 17, Phoenix fell 91-92 in a nail-biter. Facing elimination heading back to Phoenix, the Mercury retaliated, showing its offensive prowess defeating the Silver Stars in a 28-point landslide (106-78) thanks to a franchise postseason record 63.9 percent field goal shooting. Rookie sensation and WNBA Sixth Woman of the Year DeWanna Bonner poured in 16 points and 13 rebounds in just 22 minutes of play as the Phoenix bench outscored their San Antonio counterparts 44-13. In a decisive Game Three at US Airways Center two days later, Phoenix trailed going into the fourth quarter (66-69), but outscored San Antonio 34-23 in the final period to take a 100-92 come-from-behind victory and advance to the Western Conference Finals where they'd face the Los Angeles Sparks.

PHOENIX/LOS ANGELES 2009 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINALS

The Mercury advanced to the Western Conference Finals where they faced the Los Angeles Sparks led by the WNBA's all-time leading scorer, Lisa Leslie. Game One was played at Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles on Sept. 23, where Phoenix stole a 103-94 victory behind Diana Taurasi's 28 points. Game Two at US Airways Center on Sept. 25 saw the Mercury struggle offensively, managing just 76 points on 39.7 percent shooting and losing 76-87, pushing the series to a third game. Game Three (the next day) was also a low-scoring contest by the Mercury's record-setting offensive standards, but Phoenix held Los Angeles to just 25 first-half points on 24.1 percent shooting and stifled 2008 WNBA MVP Candace Parker, holding her to just six points on the night, earning an 85-74 victory and a trip to the WNBA Finals to face the East's top-seeded team, the Indiana Fever.

PHOENIX/INDIANA 2009 WNBA FINALS

Behind second-year Head Coach Corey Gaines, the Mercury advanced to the WNBA Finals for the second time in three seasons, where it faced the Eastern Conference's most elite team, the Indiana Fever. Game One of the best-of-five series would not soon be forgotten, as the two teams battled in an overtime thriller. After four quarters, the game was knotted at 105-105 heading into the extra period. There, the Mercury trailed (115-116) with just 1:40 remaining before Cappie Pondexter scored five-straight points to push the game out of the Fever's reach. Phoenix earned a 1-0 series lead, defeating Indiana 120-116 at US Airways Center in the highest-scoring WNBA game to date. The Mercury suffered an 84-93 loss in Game Two due in part to poor field goal shooting and the loss of Penny Taylor, who suffered an injury to the face and mouth, and now faced a two-game trip to Indiana with the series tied 1-1. Phoenix dropped a controversial Game Three, 85-86, and faced elimination heading back to the Valley of the Sun for a "win or go home" Game Four. The Mercury displayed its prolific shooting at US Airways Center on Oct. 7, winning the long-ball battle (10-2) and shooting better from three-point range than Indiana shot overall (41.7-40.8). Holding MVP candidate Katie Douglas to just seven points (2-of-14 shooting), the Mercury earned a 90-77 victory to force a decisive Game Five. Two days later, in front of a sold-out US Airways Center crowd of 17,313 (the largest postseason attendance in Phoenix history), Game 5 was tied (80-80) with just 4:29 left in regulation. From then on, Phoenix outscored Indiana 14-6, sealing a 94-86 victory and the Valley's second WNBA title in three years.

PHOENIX/SAN ANTONIO 2010 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMIFINALS

Despite a 15-19 regular season record, the Mercury captured the No. 2 seed in the West and faced the San Antonio Silver Stars in the Conference Semifinals for the second consecutive season. Unlike the 2009 playoffs, however, Phoenix opened the series at home thanks to a new playoff format. Feeding off the home crowd in her first career postseason, fifth-year veteran Candice Dupree dropped in a game-high 32 points setting a WNBA record for points scored in a playoff debut. The performance paced the Mercury to a 106-93 Game One victory. In San Antonio for Game Two, Dupree continued her torrid pace with 19 points and 11 rebounds joining four starters in double figures, led by Diana Taurasi's game-high 23. The Mercury never trailed in the contest and cruised to a convincing 92-73 win to clinch the series and advance to the Conference Finals vs. top-seeded Seattle.

PHOENIX/SEATTLE 2010 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINALS

The Mercury advanced to the Western Conference Finals for the third time in four seasons and faced top-seeded Seattle, which defeated Phoenix in each of five meetings during the regular season. Featuring the league's best record at 28-6 and a healthy WNBA MVP Lauren Jackson, the Storm posed a formidable challenge. In a defensive slugfest that saw neither team shoot better than 39% from the field, the Mercury suffered an eight point loss in Seattle in Game One. Candice Dupree once again filled up the stat sheet with her second straight double-double scoring 15 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. Back home for Game Two and facing elimination, the Mercury was poised to force a game three extending its lead to as many as 19 points in the second half and 13 with 5:35 remaining. However, the Storm closed the game on a 21-5 run including a game-winning three-pointer from Sue Bird with 2.8 seconds left ending Phoenix's season.

PHOENIX/SEATTLE 2011 WESTERN CONFERENCE SEMIFINALS

With a 19-15 record for the season, the Mercury finished third in the Western Conference and faced second-seeded Seattle in the Conference Semifinals. Phoenix opened the series with a 19-point loss on the road after the Storm held the league's most potent offense to just 61 points for the game, its lowest output during the 2011 season. Returning home for Game 2, Candice Dupree scored a game-high 29 points on a franchise-record-tying 12 made field goals (12-of-14) to lead the Mercury to a 92-83 victory, a game in which Phoenix led from start to finish. Back to Seattle for Game 3, the Mercury overcame an 18-point deficit to knock off the defending champion Storm and advanced to its third consecutive Western Conference Finals. After scoring 19 points, Diana Taurasi fouled out of the game with 6:38 remaining and Phoenix trailing 60-59, but Penny Taylor scored 11 of her 19 points in the final six minutes to lead the Mercury. She also added a franchise postseason record 17 rebounds in the contest. Dupree scored a team-high 20 points, including a game-winning offensive rebound basket with 1.5 seconds remaining. It marked the Mercury's first win at Key Arena since the 2009 regular season.

PHOENIX/MINNESOTA 2011 WESTERN CONFERENCE FINALS

The Mercury advanced to the Western Conference Finals for the fourth time in five seasons and faced top-seeded Minnesota. The Lynx hosted Game 1 of the Conference Finals and controlled the entire contest, never trailing to Phoenix and leading by as many as 30 points. Much like Game 1 of the Conference Semifinals against Seattle, the Mercury sputtered out of the gate, shooting just 3-of-18 from the field in the first quarter. Diana Taurasi led all scorers with 22 points on 7-of-15 shooting. Facing elimination at home in Game 2, the Mercury played an even first half with the Lynx and entered the halftime break trailing by just two points but Minnesota outscored Phoenix 60-41 in the second half to secure its berth into the WNBA Finals. Taurasi and DeWanna Bonner scored a game-high 22 points each, combining for 44 of the team's 86 points. Candice Dupree contributed a game-high 11 rebounds.

WNBA Cares
League & Marketing Programs Overview

Through WNBA Cares, the WNBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on education, youth and family development and health and wellness.

NBA/WNBA FIT

The league's comprehensive health and wellness program that encourages girls and women of all ages to learn more about their bodies and the importance of physical fitness through programs related to health, fitness, nutrition and self-esteem. Programming inspires girls and women to get started on "being fit" through small changes in their daily routine.

Dribble, Dish & Swish, a program of NBA/WNBA Fit, is free for boys and girls ages 7 to 12 and encourages participants to be active and to maintain healthy lifestyles. The competition gives participants the opportunity to showcase their fundamental basketball skills and physical fitness through a time-based, half-court obstacle course. The local champion in each age and gender group will receive an all-expense paid trip to NBA All-Star, where they will compete in the national finals.

BREAST HEALTH AWARENESS

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative.

WNBA GREEN

The WNBA is committed to a long-term environmental plan through the implementation of sustainable business practices and procedures that decrease the league's carbon footprint and contribute to a clean, healthy environment. The WNBA Greening Initiative is an innovative program designed to reduce the environmental impact of the league's operations and events.

VACCINES FOR TEENS

A national multimedia campaign designed to educate teens and their parents about the importance of vaccination against potentially life-threatening diseases.

DRIBBLE TO STOP DIABETES

Campaign raising the awareness for diabetes and to promote the importance of healthy, active lifestyles, as well as diabetes awareness, prevention, and management.

Phoenix Mercury Community Relations

Community outreach has been a cornerstone for the Phoenix Mercury since the franchise was started in 1997. The club works to create opportunities and serve as ambassadors for all girls and women in sports.

Throughout the season, the Phoenix Mercury partners with many Valley non-profits such as Elevate Phoenix, Florence Crittenton, Valley of the Sun United Way, Salvation Army, The Boys and Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Phoenix and numerous local schools.

In 2011, more than 6,000 kids and their families attended Mercury games as part of the Score for Kids program. Score for Kids is an avenue for women and men to support the Mercury by sending families to Phoenix Mercury games. The goal of the program is to build confidence and self-esteem in the kids who attend, exposing them to Mercury players and giving them positive role models to emulate.

2011 also marked the Mercury's fourth year of the Adopt-a-Team program. The Adopt-a-Team is a mentorship program in which a Title I high school girls' basketball team is selected to take part in year-round basketball and life skills lessons as well as attend Phoenix Mercury games. The program seeks to increase confidence, prepare students for life after high school graduation and encourage healthy living. The team also receives new equipment, uniforms and more. In 2012, the Mercury will adopt its fifth high school.

The Mercury also continues to raise funds for one if its primary platforms, breast health awareness. The team's charitable donations to breast health organizations surpassed $50,000 after hosting its second annual live auction following the Rock the Pink game in 2011.

US Airways Center

From its planning inception in 1988 and eventual opening in June of 1992, US Airways Center (formerly America West Arena, as of January 6, 2006) was the benchmark for other cities and other sports facilities. Its design boasted innovations that had not been seen in arenas of its day including multi-story suite levels, attached premium parking facilities and integrated team practice facility. Both public and private critics saw US Airways Center as a catalytic project capable of stimulating urban growth.

In its first full year of operation, the arena received every award a new venue of its kind was afforded, including Best New Concert Venue by Performance Magazine and Best NBA Facility by acclaim of those who know best, the players themselves.

Through the course of the 90's, new facilities around the country followed the example of US Airways Center and new projects sprung up in nearly all the major western state metropolitan areas: Denver, Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City and in 1999, Los Angeles and Dallas with dramatic new STAPLES Center and American Airlines Center. Technology changed, entertainment options proliferated and the city's emerging new downtown continued to evolve in positive ways.

The US Airways Center has completed a major $70 million expansion and improvement project. Gone is the block exterior, replaced with soaring glass walls. The outdoor ticket office is now enclosed inside the 14,000 square foot Casino Arizona Pavilion, serving as a grand entrance highlighted by a 12 x 20 foot video wall. On the east side, the Bud Light Paseo is a flexible outdoor entertainment venue covered by a football field-length canopy featuring state-of-the-art sound and video projection systems, as well as the stylish Bud Light bar area and facilities that double as television studio facilities for Suns telecasts and a performance stage for music events. Other improvements include new technology installed in the bowl including a 900-foot LED ribbon, a center-hung scoreboard with HDTV screens, a new sound system, a new Courtside Club, Lexus Club and Verve Energy Lounge nightclub, and the Suns' Jungle, a 7,000 square foot family-friendly active home to the Phoenix Suns Gorilla. At street level the US Airways Center features a Starbucks, an expanded Team Shop and the Toyota Club. In 2012, US Airways Center opened Theatre Boxes on the Club Suite Level in the south end of the arena, featuring first-class amenities including a four-person suite and a reserved table in the all-inclusive lounge.
